Rebels To Fight Truman in Electoral College

LATE NEWS

VA Workers Bagged In Washington Lottery Raid

WASHINGTON, July 15—(AP)—Police arrested nine men, including three Veterans' Administration employees, today on lottery charges. One of the group carried nearly $6,000 in his pockets, police said.

Charges of setting up a gambling table also were placed against three of the men, identified as Irving B. Summers, 55; Joe Marks, 48, and William Saks, 54. These three posted bond of $2,000 each on arraignment. The others posted $1,500 each.

Police closed in on the group on Vermont Avenue, N. W., after a VA truck drove up and the driver handed a bulky package to one of those arrested. Police said they seized a quantity of gambling paraphernalia in the truck.

Farmer, Stepdaughter Found Hanged; Left Love Note

MADISONVILLE, Ky., July 15—(UP)—The bodies of a 55-year-old tenant farmer and his 15-year-old stepdaughter were found hanging in a tobacco barn near here today.

A note left by the two said, "We died for love."

Coroner William L. Barnett said the two, Tom Fuqua and Ellen Adams, committed suicide last night.

The Coroner said a loop of barbed wire encircled the neck of the slight brunette. A piece of wire cable was around Fuqua's neck.

The two had apparently stepped off a plank together, Barnett said.

A note written by the girl was addressed to the Coroner.

Strike Okayed for 116,000 Ford Workers

DETROIT, July 15—(AP)—Representatives of 116,000 Ford Motor Company workers tonight unanimously authorized the CIO-United Auto Workers to call a strike against the big automotive firm.

Rejecting Ford's "final" offer of a 13-cent hourly pay raise, the National Ford Council demanded that Ken Bannon, National Ford director, set a date for the walkout.

UN Secretary Lie Sails for Europe

NEW YORK, Friday, July 16—(AP)—Trygve Lie, Secretary General of the United Nations, sailed aboard the liner Queen Elizabeth today for Europe.

Declining comment on the Palestine situation, Lie said he also would visit the Economic and Social Council meeting at Geneva and then would proceed to London for the opening of the Olympic games.

Truman Greets Delegates at Train

WASHINGTON, July 15—(INS)—President Truman did one of the "folksy" little things tonight which have given him a reputation as a "human" Chief Executive.

Mr. Truman, who had had only four or five hours' sleep since Tuesday night, left the White House in midevening, drove to the Union Station and met the Missouri delegates passing through on their way home from the Democratic Convention in Philadelphia.

The President himself had returned from Philadelphia early this morning and had put in a busy day after a brief sleep. He found that the train bearing the Missouri delegation would be in Washington only 20 minutes.

Overrides PSC By 5-2 Vote

Minimum increases of from 25 to 50 cents a month on telephone bills throughout Georgia were granted yesterday in a far-reaching ruling of the Georgia Supreme Court.

The Court held that a $1,500,000 temporary rate increase allowed the Southern Bell Telephone Company by the Georgia Public Service Commission earlier this year was not enough and, in effect would confiscate the companys property.

The Court authorized the Company to add more than $2,000,000 annually to telephone bills in Georgia.

Company spokesmen and Walter R. McDonald, Georgia Public Service Commission Chairman, said they were studying the 70-page court order and had no comment at this time.

Although the Supreme Court order dealt only with a temporary injunction on temporary rates granted the phone company by the Fulton Superior Court, observers said the decision certainly would regulate permanent rates now being decided by the Public Service Commission.

Previous Company testimony gave the best indication yesterday of what would happen to subscriber rates. A Company-proposed rate schedule called for hikes of from 25 to 50 cents a month. Half these subscribers, the Company said, had not had a rate increase since 1933.

Increases, principally in business phone rates, were put in effect following the Commission's order granting the phone company temporary rate increases this year of about $1,500,000.

The 5-2 Supreme Court decision, written by Justice W. H. Duckworth, appeared to write an effective finish to a long legal battle between the Public Service Commission and the phone company over new phone rates.

The Court in effect disagreed with the Commission on what constitutes a fair rate of return on invested capital but upheld the Commission's exclusive right to fix rates.

The Supreme Court differed with a three-judge Fulton Superior Court on the amount the phone company's increase should be. The lower court had allowed the phone company, in addition to the $1,500,000, to charge its customers $360,765 which Southern Bell pays annually to its parent Company, American Telephone and Telegraph Company.

The Supreme Court, however, described this amount as wholly inadequate and gave the phone company almost all the $3,715,000 annually it first asked the Commission to grant.

The high court did disallow, however, a depreciation item of $79,640 and a $97,100 loss on lunchroom operation.

"The (Public Service) Commissioners are not the managers of the Company, but their function is to regulate and disapprove any dishonest or clearly inefficient conduct and practices of the Company," the Supreme Court said.

70-Vote Holdout Planned

By RALPH McGILL.

PHILADELPHIA, July 15—Southern leaders holding over here today for the meeting of the National Committee and also those getting out on late trains, are mapping continuation of the fight against the man nominated early Thursday morning by the Democratic Convention.

They are aware of the fact that the South was badly defeated in this Convention. The further bitter truth of it is that there is no sympathy for the Southern position and the disposition on the part of the dominant wing is to let the South stew in its own juice.

But, the Southern leaders believe they have one effective weapon left. They plan to organize a block of electoral college votes to be withheld after the November election. They believe they can develop a block of between 60 and 70 such votes. If the election should prove to be a close Democratic victory, they could withhold them and defeat Truman or exact from him and the Party concessions that they want.

Only the thoughtless ones will be rushing off to Birmingham and the proposed rump convention there. Such a convention is meaningless and futile. In fact, such a convention will further damage the South. The South needs to know, to help its understanding, that the actions of the Mississippi delegation, those of Alabama and some of the wild and reckless utterances from Louisiana, did not help the South's cause. The pity of it was that Cecil Sims, the Tennessee delegate who stated the cause for the Volunteer State, could not have been the chief spokesman for the South. The position on State's Rights is not necessarily a demagogic one. It is an old plank in the Democratic Party. A great many persons sincerely believe in

Council For Allen Resigning

A majority of City Council Monday will ask Councilman Joe Allen, of the Second Ward, to resign as a result of his arrest on a gaming charge in a raid on an Atlanta hotel.

Ten of the 18 members of Council yesterday had affixed their signatures to a resolution calling on Allen to remove himself from city politics.

Allen has flatly said he has no intention of quitting.

Those who have signed the petition thus far are Aldermen Roscoe Ailor, Dowse Donaldson, Raleigh Drennon and Lee Evans and Councilmen Roy Bell, O. B. Cawthon, Lee Field, Howard Haire and Archie Lindsey.

Sponsors of the resolution said yesterday they expect to have the signatures of the remaining seven members, exclusive of Allen himself, on the measure before it is presented at Monday's meeting.

Allen was arrested along with several others and charged with gaming. He charged he had been framed, but several members of Council contend no one made him participtate in the game.

SOAP BOXES TO ROLL

Derby Set For Finals Saturday

By JACK TROY

Across the United States—in 135 cities and all 48 States—more than 100,000 red-blooded American boys, their eyed fixed and their hearts set on the National Championship, are competing these days in sectional and district Soap Box races. It's the greatest amateur racing event in the world.

Come Saturday afternoon on Soap Box Hill, South Boulevard, the 58 boys who survived last Friday's elimination tests will take up where they left off in stirring competition for the Atlanta championship.

The eleventh annual Atlanta Soap Box Derby is all set to be resumed after a delay of a week because of heavy all-day rains last Saturday. All week youngsters have been tinkering with their homemade machines—in Chevrolet shops and in their own backyards. The boys could take their cars home if they chose. Many did. And the machines are tuned to within an inch of perfection, tuned and polished—and ready to roll in the championship finals.

Starting time for the first of the championship elimination races is 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon. Ceremonies begin promptly at 1:30. All qualifiers must have their cars at the hilltop inspection point by 10 a. m. for re-inspection. The cars will be checked and weighed and thoroughly gone over again by inspectors, headed by The Constitution's Tommy Atkinson. Late comers may be disqualified, warns Derby Director Roy Brown. Promptness is important. The heats must be lined up and the races started from the trigger ramp on time.

Every one of the finalists has his hopes raised for a trip to Akron, representing Atlanta in the National Soap Box championship. This is the big reward, plus the Methodist Conference Honors Retired Pastors

By THOMAS M. ELLIOTT

Retired Methodist ministers were in the spotlight at yesterday's Annual Conference session, with a special recognition service in their honor, when addresses were delivered by Dr. Nat G. Long and Dr. R. L. Russell. At noon they were guests of the East Point First Methodist Church at a Henry Grady Hotel luncheon, with Board Chairman J. C. Stiles, of Athens, in charge.

Further attention will be given the retired men at today's sitting of the Conference, when a resolution will be presented seeking to make more secure the old age of the veterans of the cross. H. C. Compton, of Nashville, representing the Methodist Publishing House, told the retired men that the publishing profits this year, $400,000, had been distributed, with $6,465 coming to this conference group.

The luncheon served the retired veterans yesterday was the first of 10 such the East Point First Methodist Church will provide during this decade, said Dr. B. C. Gamble, Pastor in charge.

SURVIVES NAZI PRISON CAMPS

Gay Refugee Girl Here Has Received Two Proposals

Vivacious, 23-year-old Eleanore Weile, who attributes her survival of nine Nazi concentration camps to a "naturally gay spirit and sense of humor," yesterday began a new life in Atlanta.

Although she already has received two marriage proposals by mail as a result of a Constitution story about her arrival in New York a week ago, the pretty, blue-eyed girl insists her only future plans are to "work and get acquainted with Atlanta."

"Atlanta is a wonderful city!" she exclaimed, her sparkling eyes giving no hint of the torture she has suffered.

Miss Weile, whose father died in a Nazi gas chamber and her mother, from exposure in a concentration camp, will make her home with her aunt, Mrs. Sam Gay, at 2314 Haven Ridge Dr., Northwest.

"You have so much food here," she said, expressing amazement at fresh "eggs with shells," the variety of ice cream and fresh fruits.

She compared that abundance with the five slices of bread she had during an 11-day trip with 210 other Jewish prisoners in a closed German freight car while she was a captive.

"And we had no water on the trip at all," she added.

Miss Weile, taken prisoner by the Germans in Amsterdam, Holland, in 1943, was shunted from

Truman in 3-Way Political Fight

By DOUGLAS B. CORNELL

PHILADELPHIA, July 15—(AP) President Truman took on today a momentous three-front political battle, with Republicans in and out of Congress and with rebelling Southerners in his own Party.

The opposition swiftly accepted the challenges Mr. Truman laid down. The Republicans did it with charges of "cheap politics" and the shifting of GOP campaign headquarters to Washington.

Southerners who bolted the Democratic National Convention last night in a rage over the civil rights issue reacted with a formal call for a rump convention in Birmingham Saturday. They plan to pick a candidate who thinks the States—not the Federal Government—should handle such problems as lynching and poll taxes.

Mr. Truman stirred up both the Republicans and part of the once Solid South in a short, hard-swinging predawn speech today. In it he:

1. Accepted the presidential nomination of the Democratic Convention at the moment of the greatest party split in 88 years—a split over racial and civil rights issues.

2. Announced he was summoning the Republican-led Congress back into a special session that promises to be as hot as a Washington Summer. His announced purpose: To carry the offensive to the GOP, to make it put up or shut up right now on its own platform promises.

3. Appealed for Democratic Party harmony while swatting the South in its sorest spot. One thing he will ask—again—is that Congress pass some laws against lynching, poll taxes and "Jim Crow" discrimination against Negroes.

In the national campaign, it will be Mr. Truman and Sen. Barkley of Kentucky against Gov. Dewey of New York and Gov. Warren of California.

Barkley accepted the Democratic Vice Presidential nomination, also in this morning's early hours. He won it unanimously on the first ballot.

Mr. Truman was a first ballot winner, too, but far from a unanimous winner. For the South, angered by his civil rights program and a Northern maneuver that wrote it into the Party platform, put up Sen. Russell of Georgia as a protest candidate.

Russell pulled 263 votes to Mr. Truman's 947 1/2, with 618 needed to nominate. But he registered the extent of Southern unhappiness within the Party.

Before that, the whole Mississippi delegation and half of Alabama's thumbed their noses at the rest of the Convention and walked out into the rain. The downpour failed to cool their anger over the Civil Rights plank in the Party platform.

And this morning, Gov. Fielding Wright, of Mississippi appealed to "every man and woman who believes in States' Rights and who opposes Harry S. Truman and the things he stands for" to assemble Saturday in Birmingham.

Thus Party unity was at the lowest point since the Democrats broke apart in 1860 — over the issue of slavery. Through the gap in their ranks, the Republican Party marched to its first victory with the immortal Lincoln leading the way.

Just how much of a following the Birmingham meeting could

South's Gravest Threat Seen by Sen. Russell

WINDER, July 14—(AP)—Sen. Russell, Democrat, Georgia, predicted today the South would be kicked around some more in the special session of Congress called by President Truman.

The Junior Senator from Georgia said the South's defeat in the National Democratic Convention would be translated into a legislative program of unparalleled oppression.

But despite his beliefs, Russell said, he still did not think the Birmingham Convention called for Saturday by Party bolters from Mississippi and Alabama "the best thing for the present party."

He stood on his earlier statement that he would refuse to permit his name to be offered in Birmingham as a possible presidential nominee.

Russell, who garnered 263 Convention votes for the presidential nomination, said he believed the civil rights proposals will be introduced in the special session and that gleeful Republican and nonbolting Democrats will "fight to see who can kick the South the hardest."

Asked if he thought the President's call to Congress would enhance the Democrats chances in November, Russell replied, "It's in the lap of the gods."

It is a desperate move by the President to rivet national attention on what he has picked as the national issues in the 1948 campaign. It could help him or it could boomerang. The South faces its gravest threat since Reconstruction days.

"The economic issues which President Truman will bring before Congress can cut both ways over the Nation. There may be a bi-partisan fight over them.

"But the misnamed civil rights program is a political issue which affects only the South. Both parties will seize on it avidly. It is much easier for politicians to handle than economic questions."

CONVENTION WIND-UP—Here's how AP Newsfeatures Cartoonist Milt Morris saw the wind-up of the 1948 Democratic convention. White doves, released when President Truman appeared, touched off a happy note. But the walking delegates from Alabama and Mississippi made the big news of the long session in Philadelphia.

of the American eagle at both the Democratic and Republican conventions. Tell me, what does the American eagle stand for?

PHILADELPHIA, July 15—(AP) Now that the shouting is over, here's the inside dope, straight from the donkey's mouth, about what happened at the Democratic National Convention:

Q. A Republican orator says Jackson founded the Democratic Party, Roosevelt dumfounded it and Truman absconded it. Do you agree?

A. Not on your life. "Abscond" means "to steal" or "to go South with." And nobody can say Truman went South with the Dixie Democrats.

Q. How did the delegates take the presidential campaign of Sen. Pepper?

A. With a grain of salt.

Q. Name somebody that wasn't, at one time, mentioned for the Democratic Vice Presidential nomination.

A. A careful check indicates that Gov. Dewey never was considered seriously.

Q. I am a surrealist painter. Can you give me some idea how to picture the Democratic Convention?

A. Paint a 16-year-old donkey, wearing an Eisenhower button and whistling "Dixie" out of the corner of its mouth.

Q. Do you think Truman can win in November?

A. Ask some of the experts who were saying Truman couldn't win at Philadelphia.

Q. What is your most vivid memory of the Democratic Convention?

A. The time when somebody yelled "H. L. Mencken for President"—and the sage of Baltimore stood up on his desk, bowed gracefully and announced: "I accept."

Q. There were many pictures

'Rebels' Outline Plans To Kill Party in South

PHILADELPHIA, July 15—(AP)—A number of angered Dixie Democrats outlined intentions today to take the South out of the Party it has supported solidly for 75 years.

Gov. Fielding H. Wright, of Mississippi, called a meeting of all States-rights Democrats for Birmingham Saturday. There the leaders of the Southern anti-Truman movement will recommend that the Southern electoral vote be given to a man named this weekend.

The Southerners contend that the anti-discrimination proposals in the Party platform, which echoes President Truman's own Civil Rights program, invade States' rights.

After the Mississippi delegation and half of Alabama's walked out of the Convention, Southerners fought with grim determination the admittedly hopeless fight against Mr. Truman's nomination. For the most part they sat unsmiling through the demonstration for the President.

The 11 Alabama electors, named May 4 in a State primary, are committed against Mr. Truman or any other nominee who endorsed the anti-lynching, anti-segregation and Fair Employment Practices program of the President.

In addition to Alabama and Mississippi, representatives from Texas, Arkansas, Florida and South Carolina have announced they will go to Birmingham. All these states, in bitter opposition to the Convention majority, stood solidly against the Civil Rights platform plank and against Mr. Truman's nomination.

Alabama's delegates split on the walkout question. But those delegates who remained on the Convention floor fought the President to the finish on his nomination.

They also voted unanimously against suspension of the rules to allow unanimous nomination of Sen. Barkley for Vice President. But their protest went unheard.

The Birmingham gathering will resemble in some ways the Southern rebellion in 1860 at Charleston, S. C., and Baltimore. The deep South delegates withdrew from the regular convention, nominated a candidate of their own, and split the party vote that Fall.

Lincoln's election as the first Republican President followed, and Southern States seceded to set the stage for the War Between the States.

Since the war, the South has been the symbol of party regularity.

DOTHAN EAGLE TO SUPPORT DEWEY

DOTHAN, Ala., July 15—(AP)—The Dothan (Ala.) Eagle, in a front page editorial today, "bolted" the Democratic Party and announced it would support the Dewey-Warren ticket of the Republican Party.

"We've had enough," wrote Horace Hill, publisher. "Come hell or high water, we're supporting the Republicans—Governors Dewey and Warren."

Cox Charged With Collusion By Peacock

ALBANY, July 15—(AP)—Atty. J. Neely Peacock, opposing Rep. E. E. Cox, of Camilla, for the Second District Congressional post, charged "collusion" today in changing the district plurality to a County unit vote system.

He charged "collusion" on the part of Cox, seeking his thirteenth term, and the district Democratic Executive Committee, adding: "I have no quarrel with the unit system, but I do say it is unsportsmanlike to change for the sole purpose of defeating a candidate."

Cox defeated Peacock in 1946 by a majority vote of 27,066 to 22,920.

Sends Cop To Hospital, Asks To Go There, Also

A young Atlanta woman complained of "not feeling well" and asked to go to Grady Hospital yesterday after a free-for-all fight in which she banged up another woman, sent one husky patrolman to Grady and ripped the shirt off another.

Hospital attaches said her only ailment appeared to have resulted from over-exertion.

The long chain of events which landed Miss Alta Mae Black, alias Mrs. Alta Mae Boolukus, 28, in City Jail under $1,200 bond on charges of drunk and disorderly conduct, breaking and entering, assault and battery, assault on an officer and cursing, began early yesterday when police received a call to 876 State St., N. W.

Patrolmen L. A. Schnall and D. I. King, who answered the call, were told by Mr. and Mrs. Bonnie Sudan that Miss Black, a former roomer, had ripped a screen from a rear window, entered the home and attacked Mrs. Sudan.

When they attempted to take her out of the house, patrolmen said, Miss Black kicked Schnall in the stomach and ripped the buttons from King's shirt. They added she continued to fight all the way to Police Headquarters and several times attempted to jump out of the patrol car.

After reaching headquarters, they continued, Miss Black slipped up behind Officer Schnall while he was writing out the charge and again kicked him in the stomach.

King was treated at Grady for a scratch on his nose and was given anti-tetanus vaccine, records show. King's watch was torn from his arm and broken during the melee.

TRUMAN'S CALL FIRST SINCE 1856

WASHINGTON, July 15—(AP)—President Truman's call for a special session of Congress starting July 26 will be the first issued in a presidential election year since before the War Between the States.

In 1856, Democrat Franklin Pierce called a special meeting of Congress to pass an Army Appropriation Bill. He was not a candidate for a second term.

McGrath Kept As Chairman

PHILADELPHIA, July 15—(AP) Sen. J. Howard McGrath was retained as Chairman of the Democratic National Committee today to direct the election drive for President Truman and Sen. Barkley.

McGrath's election without opposition came after he predicted that President Truman will win in the November election because "his kind of courage, his kind of confidence, do not fail."

High Points In Truman's Acceptance

PHILADELPHIA, July 15—(INS)—The following are the highlights of President Truman's dramatic speech accepting the Democratic nomination in convention hall:

"Sen. Barkley and I will win this election and make these Republicans like it.

". . . We will do that because they are wrong and we are right."

"The people know that the Democratic party is the people's party, and the Republican party is the party of special interests."

". . . If they (the farmers) don't do their duty by the Democratic party, they are the most ungrateful people in the world . . . "

"Labor never had but one friend in politics, and that is the Democratic party and Franklin D. Roosevelt."

"The record on foreign policy of the Democratic party is that the United States has been turned away permanently from isolationism . . . We have converted the greatest of all Republicans to our viewpoint on that subject."

"The United States has to accept its full responsibility for leadership in international affairs."

"We have started a foreign aid program which means the recovery of Europe and China and the Far East."

"The Foreign Relations Committees of the Senate and House were taken into the full confidence of the President in every one of these moves . . ."

"The Republican party . . . favors the privileged few and not the common, everyday man."

"In the field of labor, we needed moderate legislation to promote labor-management harmony, but Congress instead passed the so-called Taft-Hartley Act, which has disrupted labor-management relations."

"Everybody knows that I recommended to the Congress a civil rights program . . . Some of the members of my own party disagree violently on this matter, but they stand up to it openly."

"Everybody likes to have low taxes, but we must reduce the national debt in times of prosperity . . . "

"My duty as President requires that I use every means within my power to get the laws the people need . . ."

". . . I am therefore calling this Congress back into session on the 26th of July . . . "

"I am calling Congress back and I am going to ask them to pass laws halting rising prices and lower housing costs, which they say are in their platform . . ."

". . . At the same time I am going to ask them to act on other vitally needed measures . . ."

Convention Row Wrecked Party's Hopes, Davis Says

"The action of the Democratic Convention in Philadelphia has put the finishing touches on the job of wrecking the Democratic Party so far as any chances of success in the coming election are concerned," according to Fifth District Rep. James C. Davis.

Although he had just opened headquarters for his campaign for re-election in Room 612, Henry Grady Hotel, yesterday, Judge Davis said he would return to Washington for the opening of the special session of Congress called by President Truman for July 26.

"This call for a special session," he said, "comes as a climax to the Convention. Since the call comes dressed in a political wrapper, that fact will tend to lessen chances of constructive legislation being enacted. I had already made plans to spend the next few weeks in the Fifth District, but since this extra session has been called, I'll forego those plans, be present at the opening and attend all sessions in the hope some of the unfinished legislation can be carried to completion."

Davis said he was proud of the showing made by Sen. Russell in his bid for the presidential nomination.

Former Georgia Gov. Ellis Arnall brushed aside claims and threats of revolting Southern Democrats today with the blunt statement that "the South will vote solidly Democratic this year as usual."

The liberal author-politician minimized the importance of the scheduled Dixiecrat "rump" convention in Birmingham Saturday. Arnall said he did not "know much about the Birmingham meeting" but he added emphatically:

"The South is at home in the Democratic Party, it knows no other home. It has no place else to go."

Nelson Blames School Fund Lack

DeKalb School Supt. Henry E. Nelson, who stepped out of the race for re-election Saturday in a surprise move, said yesterday his withdrawal was caused by a lack of funds to finance the campaign.

Nelson, quieting rumors that his withdrawal had been "forced," said: "I made the decision on my own accord. No one, friend or foe, made the least suggestion for this action."

In a prepared statement, Nelson said he "deeply appreciated the encouragement and co-operation my many friends have given me throughout my administration.

"As the people in general know already, I have encountered much unnecessary interference in the performance of my official duties in school work. But in spite of this, DeKalb County's School System probably has made the greatest educational progress during the past three years of any county in Georgia."

Nelson said he will finish out his present term which expires Dec. 31, 1948.

Wallaceites Next in Line At Philadelphia

PHILADELPHIA, July 15—(AP) Wallaceites move into Philadelphia Saturday to complete the political convention cycle.

The Nation's newest political party, which variously has called itself the Progressive, New, Third and Wallace-for-President Party, will hold its founding conclave here July 23 to 25.

The Republicans held sway in Philadelphia the week of June 21 and the Democrats wound up their session early today.

Wallaceites are wasting no time in taking over. They will establish headquarters at the Bellevue-Stratford of Saturday.

And one week later the party will choose as its standard-bearers, Henry A. Wallace for President and Idaho's Sen. Glen H. Taylor for Vice President.

Gen. of Armies John J. Pershing, U. S. Chief in World War I, Dies

WASHINGTON, July 15—(AP)—General of the Armies John J. Pershing, who in his 87 years had fought Indians and led American forces to victory in Word War I, died today.

The country's flags were lowered to half staff in grateful respect by Presidential order.

Death, which had hovered near the ailing old soldier for many months, came quietly in the predawn hours.

At Walter Reed Army Medical Center, where he had been a patient since 1941, the doctors said a blood clot was the immediate cause of death. But a heart condition, produced by extreme age, had paved the way.

The General will be buried Monday in Arlington National Cemetery after ceremonies such as the nation reserves for its great men.

His body will lie in state in the rotunda of the Capitol on Sunday and Monday morning. Troops will escort the body through the city and out to the green hills of Arlington, where President Truman will come to pay the nation's and his own farewell to the man who was his commander in World War I.

For neighbors in Arlington, Pershing will have some of the soldiers of his command in France. He wanted it that way. Several years ago he went over to the cemetery, picked out a spot in the midst of the World War I dead section, and said that was where he wanted to be buried.

"When the last bugle call is sounded I want to stand up with my soldiers," the General said.

The catafalque on which Pershing's body will lie in state at the Capitol is a simple affair of pine boards—but with a history. Lincoln's body rested on it. One of Pershing's men—the Unknown Soldier—used it.

Mr. Truman called for a nationwide memorial observance of the General's death, ordering that flags be flown at half staff on all public buildings, military posts and American ships until the funeral.

This country "will ever hold him in grateful remembrance," said the President in a statement. Other high officials added their tributes.

The country, indeed, had expressed its gratitude back in 1919 when Congress, by a special act, conferred the highest military title on him—General of the Armies. Only one other, Washington, held that title, and that also by a special act of Congress.

Over in France, where Pershing is remembered, there was sadness. President Vincent Auriol and Premier Schuman prepared official statements of regret at the loss of a man whose deeds did much to tighten the bonds of historical friendship of two nations. But fate had done curious things and the Frenchman who knew Pershing best, a fellow commander in the battle against the Huns of the other war, was in prison. He is 92-year-old Marshal Henri Petain, serving out the rest of his life in confinement on charges growing out of his leadership of the Vichy Government during the German occupation of World War II.

Up in New York, Gen. Dwight Eisenhower said "a great soldier and patriot has passed from the American scene." Eisenhower could appreciate the problems Pershing had faced in Europe for he commanded the Allied Armies of the second world war.

Out in the Philippines he was known for his early years of service in the Army, which helped quell native uprisings and bring peace to the islands. President Quirino said "the Philippines lost a friend."

In the Pentagon, people peered curiously into the office marked by the black and gold sign, "General of the Armies," where the national colors and the flag of his command stand beside a desk. Pershing never had used that office. The office of General of the Armies was transferred from the old State Department Building a year ago, over the protests of veterans who had gone often to the old office for a glimpse of their former chief.

Pershing was born Sept. 13, 1860, near Laclede, Mo. He was graduated from West Point in 1886, a second lieutenant of cavalry.

Men who served with him, themselves now old, recall him as a youngster with a shock of curly red hair. One of them remembered him as a junior officer of the Sixth Cavalry Regiment at Fort Wingate, N. M., a frontier post in Apache country. The Sixth Cavalry had the reputation of a hard-riding outfit, but Pershing outrode anyone in the regiment. Good shooting was not a sport but a means of keeping alive when following Indian trails through mountains and desert. Pershing followed them and kept alive to serve later as a scout against the Sioux in Nebraska and the Dakotas, and still later in the war with Spain, in the Philippines and then in France.

President Wilson picked him to lead the American Expeditionary Forces and Pershing sailed for France on May 28, 1917. There he first beat down the demands of the other Allied high commanders that American troops merely be but individual elements of Allied armies, then he turned to the business of beating down the Germans who faced his American Expeditionary Force.

In July, 1921, he became chief of staff of the Army. In the three years of that office Pershing modernized the general staff and expanded military education and training systems that laid the foundation for the Army which fought in World War II. The lessons he learned when the United States was struggling to create a wartime fighting force in 1917 and the events he saw in the years of indifference that followed World War I led him to crusade in the interlude between two wars for national preparedness. His plea was for a comparatively small regular Army, backed by a trained and equipped National Guard and reserve organizations.

When Pearl Harbor came, Pershing still was well enough to take vital interest in all that happened to the nation and to his "boys"—the junior officers who served under him, now become generals themselves. He studied report,s, and gave sage advice to the generals who visited him at the hospital.

When the end came this morning, Pershing's sister, Miss May, and his son, Warren, were at his bedside. There, too, was the doctor who had cared for him in the final years he lived out in the hospital, Maj. Gen. Shelley Marietta.

The General's wife and their three daughters were burned to death in a fire which destroyed their residence at the Presidio in San Francisco in 1915. He was on duty in Mexico at the time.

Pershing showed indications of a final collapse on Wednesday evening. He became progressively worse as the night wore on and died at 2:50 a. m. (EST) today.

Truman's Proclamation On Death of Gen. Pershing

WASHINGTON, July 15—(AP)—The text of President Truman's proclamation on the death of Gen. Pershing:

By the President of the United States of America

A Proclamation

To the People of the United States:

It becomes my sad duty to announce officially the death of John J. Pershing, General of the Armies of the United States, who died at Walter Reed Hospital in Washington, D. C., at 3:50 a. m. (2:50 a. m., EST), on the 15th day of July, 1948.

Gen. Pershing devoted his entire life to his profession. He served with distinction in numerous campaigns and his glorious part in the first World War will never be forgotten. His death comes as a great sorrow to his friends and as a genuine bereavement to the people of the United States. He has already achieved an honored place in our history.

As a mark of respect to Gen. Pershing's memory, it is hereby ordered that the national flag be displayed at half-mast upon all public buildings and at all forts and military posts and naval stations, and on all vessels of the United States, until after the funeral shall have taken place.

In witness whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States of America to be affixed.

Done at the City of Washington this 15th day of July in the year of our Lord nineteen hundred and forty-eight, and of the independence of the United States of America the one hundred and seventy-third.

HARRY S. TRUMAN

By the President:

GEORGE C. MARSHALL,
Secretary of State.

Gen. Pershing Spurned Fanfare On Visits Here

General of the Armies John J. Pershing, who died yesterday in Washington, visited Atlanta on several occasions, but always without fanfare. Persons remembering the visits say that the General discouraged parades and demonstrations in his honor.

Perhaps the most memorable visit here was in 1920, when he appeared with the great French soldier, Marshal Foch, on the occasion of the dedication of Pershing Point in honor of Atlanta's World War I dead and in honor, too, of the General who had led them in battle.

A year before, General Pershing had come here from Fort Benning to inspect Camp Gordon and Fort McPherson. General Pershing, fresh from his European triumph, could have had the town, but he insisted on nothing more showy than an automobile ride through downtown streets.

The General was like that, people who knew him say. He liked things to be on the quiet side when not engaged in military battle. But despite his dislike for the octentatious and his desire to avoid ceremony when visiting a place, he got a huge reception when he visited Fort Benning in the year 1919. There was a terrific flash flood, damaging the environs of Columbus to the tune of $500,000 and throwing 50,000 persons out of work. To this day, people in Columbus call it the "Pershing Flood."

LUCKY SURVIVAL, SAYS BROMFIELD

Leaderless Democrats Narrowly Graze Ruin

The 1948 Democratic Convention has passed into history—but it may yet give rise to developments of the greatest importance to the Party and to the Nation. So declares noted author and novelist, Louis Bromfield, in the following article as a special Convention "reporter" for International News Service.

By LOUIS BROMFIELD

(Famous author and novelist. Written expressly for International News Special Service, Copyright, 1948, by INS.)

PHILADELPHIA, July 15—(INS)—A great political party with a great liberal tradition went down into the valley of the shadow of death this week in Philadelphia.

It has emerged shaken but surviving, at least until the second Tuesday of November.

If there had been a single great leader, the Party might have come through revitalized as the powerful liberal Party it once was and a Party such as millions of Americans are looking for.

But no leader arose. The Party survived by luck and the curious inherent vitality it has always possessed because in its long past record it has often been close to the people.

WITHOUT A LEADER

No leader emerged but only an array of professional politicians and political warhorses, some of them honorable men but none of them touched by any fire or capable of finding or dramatizing the great potential issues which were available on every side.

The oratory was old-fashioned political oratory, not very good, and much too long-winded. In all history there has never been a convention more mocked or derided by the press and a great part of the public. So great was the indifference that until the very last night the galleries never were more than half filled.

It was a convention at which the politicians abused and derided a President of the United States belonging to their own party and whom almost inevitably they had to nominate.

Factions within the Party brazenly placed their own interests above those both of party and of nation. Much of this took place under the candid, cynical and ruthless eye of television which revealed to all the nation such spectacles as the departure from the hall of hundreds of delegates as so honored a veteran as Sam Rayburn rose to speak.

HISTORIC HAPPENINGS

Yet—and this is a big yet—things happened at the Convention out of which could arise developments of the greatest historic importance to the Democratic Party and to the nation.

For the first time in history the Democratic Party told the Deep South that it could walk out and the Democratic Party could still survive and perhaps even grow in strength.

Part of the South left the convention to go to a rump convention at Birmingham, Ala., but it made little difference because the 1948 rebels really had no place to go.

It is just possible that Wednesday night marked the beginning of the end of the old one-party system in the South. Certainly the breach between the old traditional Southern Democrats and the new and the growing liberal movement was both widened and clarified.

STATES' RIGHTS, AGAIN

The old issue of States' rights upon which the Democratic Party was founded and which it largely forgot during the past 16 years raised its head again vigorously.

The motives behind the resurgence were not unqualifiedly honorable. They arose partly from resistance to President Truman's program of Civil Rights and some of them were badly smudged with oil—tidewater oil. The issue was slapped down but the flag is still there. The battle against overcentralized Federal Government is by no means dead.

The old pattern of the New Deal died at this Convention along with the last of the old New Dealers and their influence. It was a pattern which, for good or bad, had run its course.

It belonged to the past—a specialized pattern stamped by the personality, the weaknesses, the strength and the faults of one man, Franklin D. Roosevelt who was no longer alive to dominate Democratic conventions and there was no man to take his place.

14 CHARGES

Office Seeker Gets $42 Fine

Aspiring for public office carries its liabilities, A. G. Moriarty, a newly announced candidate for Representative from DeKalb County in the General Assembly, learned yesterday.

Moriarty was hailed into Atlanta traffic court on a total of 14 charges of illegal parking and was fined $42 after an officer noticed his announcement for office in the newspapers.

Patrolman E. V. Forrester, in charge of traffic contempt cases, hastily checked his files when he saw the Moriarty announcement. Then he dispatched an officer by Moriarty's home at 1300 Emory Rd., N. E.

A bit red-faced, Moriarty accompanied the officer to traffic court. Deputy Recorder Frank White assessed the fine.

TWO PARALYZED VETS GO A-FEUDIN' IN WHEEL CHAIRS—THEN GUNFIRE

MEMPHIS, Tenn., July 15—(AP)—A paraplegic veteran was shot early today after he and another paraplegic had engaged in a fist fight in wheel chairs at Kennedy Veterans Hospital.

Dr. Clyde Beck, Hospital Manager, related this story:

Wallace Rice, about 30, of Amarillo, Texas, and Richard Hicks, 31, of Canalou, Mo., had argued in the past. Early today the trouble reached a head and they agreed to go to the hospital sun parlor and fight it out.

They fought until both fell from their wheel chairs. An attendant helped them up and sent them back to their ward.

Later, Beck said, Rice shot Hicks through the thigh while he slept. Hicks was reported in good condition.

Beck said Rice and D. Duckworth, 20, of Gainesville, Texas, were being held in a closed ward pending an investigation by a Veterans Administration Board. He said Duckworth—also a patient—obtained the gun for Rice from an automobile on the hospital grounds.

Hicks was wounded in combat, Rice was wounded on Army maneuvers and Duckworth was hurt while a civilian in Army service. They are paralyzed from the waist down.

'Loyal Sons of South' Win Praise Of Talmadge in Pelham Address

By ALBERT RILEY
Constitution Staff Writer

PELHAM, July 15—It is time to stand up and be counted on the questions of State's rights and so-called civil rights legislation, Herman Talmadge told a crowd of Southwest Georgians here today as he helped dedicate a new American Legion clubhouse.

Departing from his planned speech, the youthful gubernatorial aspirant praised "the loyal sons of the South for their fight last night in Philadelphia" at the Democratic National Convention.

It was apparent at the convention, Talmadge said, that the Southerners, in opposing President Truman, were "fighting for a cause that was as lost as the cause of Lee and Jackson and Gordon, but they went down fighting."

He did not mention the President by name.

"We fought for the American way of life, as soldiers and sailors," Talmadge told his fellow American Legionnaires, "and now, as civilians, we must fight just as hard for that way of life and our traditions."

In an obvious reference to FEPC legislation, Talmadge declared that "we are facing the most perilous times since 1860," explaining that "if swarms of secret police and gestapo are sent into Georgia and Mitchell County to tell every employer whom he can and cannot hire and fire, it will destroy business and every vestige of our liberties.

"If you want to go to theaters with people of your own color, that's your business," he said, "and not the business of the Federal Government."

In adopting the principles of States' rights embodied in the Tenth Amendment, Talmadge said, the framers of the Constitution knew that "what might be beneficial for New Hampshire might be chaos for Georgia."

Aside from his reference to National affairs, Talmadge's speech was largely non-political. He did make one remark that "veterans are not now getting full benefits of the GI Bill of Rights in Georgia."

Early in his speech someone asked him to remove his coat, a favorite stunt of his late father. But Talmadge replied: "I'll do that this afternoon at Cordray's Mill; this is not a political gathering."

At Cordray's Mill in Calhoun County later in the day, he did swing into politics, declaring rural roads in Georgia are in a shameful condition, and they "are as necessary as trunk highways and more vital than access roads to such spots as Jekyll Island."

Talmadge was introduced at Pelham by his friend, Marvin Griffin, of Bainbridge, combat veteran and candidate for Lieutenant Governor, who spoke of Talmadge's 52 months of Naval service, many of them in the South Pacific.

As the new $40,000 home and swimming pool of the Smith-Spence Post No. 144 was dedicated, many Southwest Georgia Legionnaires were present.

Speakers included Post Commander C. W. Strickland, Mayor Wheatey Powell, of Pelham, Mayor "Taxi" Smith, of Albany; Second District Legion Commander Willis Conger, of Bainbridge; State Vice Commander Ed Hughes, of Camilla; Past State Commanders John Wiliams, of Valdosta, and Hoyt Wimpy, of Thomasville; District Legion Auxiliary President Mrs. Mildred Logan, of Albany, and Neeley Peacock, of Albany. Others present included Carl Jones, of Valdosta, and Glen Cowden and Cliff White, of Thomasville.

A big barbecue, beauty contest, baseball game and dance were included in the celebration.

Rabun Lambasts Opposition In Moultrie Address

Constitution State News Service

MOULTRIE, July 15—Declaring that "the truth alone can make us free," Gubernatorial Candidate Joe Rabun attacked two of his opponents, Herman Talmadge and Acting Gov. Thompson, in an address at the opening of the Southwest Georgia Tobacco Festival here today.

Commenting on Talmadge's attempts to take over the Governorship last year, Rabun said:

"He consented to, or was a party to, fraud, deceit and premeditated trickery when his name was surreptitiously placed on many ballots in the last general election in opposition to his own father. That he is ignorant of the fraud and the cheap politics involved cannot be believed."

Rabun labeled Candidate Thompson's record as "the fanciest fence-straddling ever seen in Georgia" and added Thompson has been first "pro" and then "anti" on a number of issues.

"He has made a political bed of soiled linen," Rabun said of the Acting Governor. "Sick over his poor chances to be elected Governor, because of his pathetic record, he calls for a doctor and a nurse. (Dr.) Ed Rivers comes and prescribes 'asphalt and alcohol,' while (Nurse) Ellis Arnall stands taking his temperature and telling him 'what the people want'."

YOUR CITY HALL

By HERMAN HANCOCK

PAVING PLAGUE—City Council's Public Works Committee yesterday struggled with the problem of free paving for which the City committed itself last year to the tune of $130,000. Several months ago the Construction Department ran out of funds to perform work intended to encourage the construction of homes to relieve the acute housing shortage. It served notice the municipality could not promise any additional free paving and advised builders and homeowners to pave by the baby bond method, through which property owners bear the cost. Yesterday, the Committee found it already had agreed to do 20 more stretches at an estimated cost of $130,000 before the lid was clamped down. Ald. Dowse Donaldson, Committee Chairman, and Construction Chief Clarke Donaldson were instructed to seek funds for the work when the 1949 finance sheet is prepared.

ROAMERS—Ald. Dowse Donaldson, Chairman of Council's Health and Sanitation Committee, will leave tomorrow to spend the remainder of the vacation at Daytona Beach with Mrs. Donaldson and friends. . . . Col. Rex LeFevre, Assistant City Construction Chief, will leave today to attend the National Road Show at Chicago.

SEWER, PAVING BIDS—Bids were received yesterday by Council's Public Works Committee for paving of three street stretches and the laying of lateral sewers. The Nichols Construction Company was low bidder for the lateral sewers at a figure of $47,652. Sam Finley, Inc., was low on the street paving. He agreed to pave Oliver Street from Simpson to North Avenue for $17,815; Welch Street from Arthur to Delevan Street for $3,379, and Sharon Street from Chickmauga Avenue 450 feet to the end of the street for $5,520. The bids will go to Council Monday with recommendations that the low figures be accepted.

AUDITORIUM BIDS READY—Council's Building and Athletic Committee yesterday prepared to submit a recommendation to Monday's Council session for concession contracts at the Municipal Auditorium. The bids were narrowed yesterday to three and the principals have been invited to attend a meeting of the Buildings and Athletic Committee at 11 a. m. tomorrow at which time it is expected a definite decision will be reached. The three high bidders are Malcom H. Shelton, 221 Peachtree St., who was high with an agreement to pay $750 monthly; S. R. Davis, of Davis Bros. Restaurant, 104 Luckie St., N. W., $750 monthly, and E. T. Eberhart of 908 Juniper St., N. E., $750 monthly. The committee also will consider whether to enter into a three or five-year contract.

MAYOR'S DAY—Mayor Hartsfield yesterday attended a meeting of the Fulton County Grand Jurors' Association, at which he urged an increase of the names in the grand jury box from 1,000 to 5,000 to provide better representation for Atlanta, attended a meeting of a subcommittee studying bids for concession privileges at the Municipal Auditorium, conferred with Frank Kempton, Legionnaire and publisher, and autographed photographs for a group of Chinese YMCA members who are visiting Atlanta. Last night he enjoyed a rarity—a night devoid of engagements.

Chinese Speaker

T. H. Wong, General Secretary of the Kunming, China, YMCA, will be guest speaker at the Tuesday luncheon meeting of the Y's Men's Club in the YMCA.

18-Year-Old Volunteers Bid by Army July 21

WASHINGTON, July 15—(AP)—The Army, Navy and Air Force will begin accepting special enlistments of 18-year-old volunteers under the new draft act on July 21.

Secretary of Defense Forrestal announced the date today after getting Budget Bureau approval for use of the necessary funds.

Each force will accept enlistments in approximately equal monthly numbers within the limits set by the service act. These limits annually are Army, 110,000; Navy 36,000, of which 6,000 is allotted the Marines; Air Force 15,000. Total 161,000.

The Army will accept about 10,000 enlistments during the four weeks beginning July 21; the Navy, including Marines, 3,000; the Air Force, 1,300. Succeeding monthly quotas will be announced as they are determined.

Under the act, the armed forces are authorized to accept enlistments of youths between the ages of 18 and 19 who volunteer to serve one year in the regular forces followed by an extended period in the reserves.

By enlisting, the youths will be exempt from being called up in the draft.

The piano accordion was introduced in 1910 by Pietro Deiro, Sr., a vaudeville hoofer who wanted to "try something spectacular."

Mothers To Aid Palsy Victims

Thirteen Georgia mothers of cerebral palsied children have organized a society to work in the interest of the State's children so affected.

Mrs. John D. Favor, of LaGrange, Parent Counselor of the Cerebral Palsy Division of the Crippled Children's League of Georgia, said the 13 will be "the nucleus of a larger group of parents who want to participate in rehabilitation of such children."

First general meeting of the new society will be held July 28 at 3 p. m. at Aidmore, 918 Peachtree St., N. E. All parents of cerebral palsied children are invited.

Palestine Truce Ordered By UN; Force Threatened

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The United Nations ordered the Arabs and Jews last night to stop the war in Palestine. The decision, taken by the 11-nation Security Council, was backed up by provisions allowing the UN to use force if necessary.

The decision, taken on a United States resolution, went far beyond previous UN efforts which merely asked the warring parties to cease fighting. It gave the Arabs and Jews three days in which to stop their war and ordered an unconditional cease-fire in Jerusalem to take effect within 24 hours.

A comparative lull settled over the combat areas of the Holy Land yesterday but the air war was intensified.

Cairo suffered its first air raid of the Palestine war. A Jewish plane attacked the city "and dropped some bombs," an Egyptian Defense Ministry communique said. It did not mention casualties or the extent of damage. Egypt said her air force bombed Tel Aviv, the Israeli capital, yesterday, and a communique from Baghdad said Iraqi planes raided Haifa.

Italy, suddenly made tense by the attempted assassination of its top Communist, Palmiro Togliatti, was relieved of the pressure of a general strike. Communist labor leaders yielded to the government early today and ordered the nation-wide walkout to end.

The strike followed an attempt on Togliatti's life. Troops patrolled the streets of Genoa and a state of emergency was proclaimed for Genoa province. Seven violent deaths were reported.

But the big international question remained unanswered: What are the Western Powers going to do about Russia's blunt refusal to lift the blockade of Berlin?

Nobody seemed to know the answer. In London, representatives of the three Western Powers got together to exchange their views. The British cabinet met for three hours.

A U. S. Military Government broadcast told the German people the "civilized world has demonstrated its complete solidarity" against the "brutal" Russian blockade of the city.

Gen. Lucius D. Clay, American Military Governor, said in Frankfurt the United States still is determined to stay in Berlin. He said more airplanes will join the big American fleet ferrying in food to Berliners.

Western European reaction varied from a feeling that perhaps a common ground can still be reached between the East and West, to an outright call by a French newspaper for an ultimatum to Russia. L'Intransigeant said if an ultimatium failed, then the blockade must be broken by armed force.

The Russians said they were sending formations of Yak fighters into the corridors for maneuvers. They did not say when.

The British and Americans continued to fly in tons of supplies.

Yugoslavia's Marshal Tito got another slugging from the Moscow-blessed Cominform, which accused him of betraying the working class and said he rules Yugoslav Communists with a "regime of terror."

It was the second time the nine-nation Cominform blasted Tito, and it appeared in the Cominform Bulletin. It seemed to be appealing to Yugoslav Communists to break with Tito.

In Palestine the Jews said their troops were on three sides of Nazareth, main northern base of Fawzi Pasha Al Kaukji's Arab volunteer army. Egyptian planes staged a midnight raid on Jerusalem and the Arab-Jewish artillery duel boomed on in the Holy City. A Syrian communique said units had slipped into Dan and destroyed important Jewish installations and bridges.

A Greek Army spokesman said 400 guerrillas were killed in a two-day battle for a mountain ridge southwest of Eptahorion.

CRAIG KARR
Happy Now

Spurned Tot, 5, Back With Mother

PHILADELPHIA, July 15—(AP) Five-year-old Craig Karr today was back with his mother, Mrs. Frank Karr, after a mixup which involved a railroad trip from Florida, complete with address labels, and the refusal of his grandparents Mr. and Mrs. Robert Miller, of Philadelphia, to "accept" him on arrival. His dad put him on the train at Miami.

Craig felt fine about everything today, however, when his mother met him at the Children's Shelter after a hurry-up trip from Atlantic City.

Mrs. Karr said a family disagreement led her to leave Florida to seek employment at the seaside resort.

British Troops Rush To Quell Reds in Malaya

SINGAPORE, July 15—(UP)—British troop reinforcements are being rushed from Hongkong to help stamp out Communist-inspired terrorism throughout Malaya, it was announced today.

The first battalion of Inniskilling Fusiliers is en route to Singapore, the communique said, and "will be arriving soon."

Sir Alex Newboult, acting high commissioner, admitted that security forces on hand were insufficient to cope with widespread violence.

Police rounded up more than 150 suspected guerrillas in the jungles of South Johore state early today after gunmen fired on a British-Malayan patrol.

'Tide-City-Over' Fund Voted for East Point

By HOWELL JONES

City Council of East Point last night ended a financial emergency in the city.

Meeting in special session called for the purpose of either slashing expenditures or providing additional revenue to "tide" the city over its current crisis, Council voted to:

1. Seek a loan of $30,000 from local bank.

2. Adopt a budget regulating expenditures within the various departments of the government.

3. Request department heads to further cut expenses where possible.

4. To request the East Point Democratic Committee to place on its ballot for the Sept. 23 primary a space in which citizens of East Point may decide whether liquor stores should be licensed in the city for the purpose of raising additional revenue.

In a surprise move, Council also voted to rescind a previous action in which it raised both water and light rates by $1. Councilmen, in reversing their previous action, said they had received veritable "storms" of protests from citizens over the hike.

In adopting the budget, Council approved an action sought by Mayor J. Henry Blair for almost two years. Throughout many stormy sessions, Mayor Blair had insisted that the only way to control the city's financial condition was to adopt a budget regulating expenditures.

The budget, based on anticipated revenue of $423,652.44, and a comparable anticipated expenditure, will become effective immediately. It includes purchase of a new pumper-type fire truck which was delivered this week, and anticipated public works planned for this year.

Councilman W. B. Luck, of the First Ward, in asking department heads to co-operate in slashing operating expenses, cautioned that if the heads did not accomplish some measure of saving, the Council then would be forced to take "appropriate action."

Luck told Council it was up to it to try, "for the first time, to run the city on a business-like basis. We should not seek to raise additional revenue until we have made an honest effort to cut expenses."

The liquor question, a bone of contention for more than a year, will be submitted to the voters only as a means of providing needed revenue, Cuncilmen said. The only vote against the proposal was cast by Councilman W. Y. Keeler, who has sought licensing of liquor stores by direct action of Council.

Tremor in Caribbean

MIAMI, Fla., July 15—(AP)—A mild earth tremor was recorded early today on seismographs at Swan Island, Roosevelt Roads and Guantanamo Bay in the Caribbean area, the Navy reported. Marion H. Gilmore, geophysicist at Miami Naval Air Station, said the disturbance apparently was somewhere in the Caribbean.

Accessory Theft Wave 'Broken' With Arrest of 4

A wave of early morning raids on automobile accessories has been broken with the arrest of four teen-aged youths, Atlanta police said yesterday.

Sgt. J. D. Etheridge and Ptl. R. E. Nickerson took the quartet into custody early yesterday after receiving complaints from a half dozen North Side residents that thei cars had been stripped of expensive hubcaps and the like.

Officers said they had recovered part of the stolen items.

The four, listed as G. C. Allen, 19, of Riverside; W. H. Huggins, 19, of 924 Hampton St., S. W.; W. A. West, 19, of 368 Ormond St., S. E., and H. J. Barton, 18, of 123 Lakewood Ave., S. W., were taken into custody at Pine and Venable Streets after being pointed out to police as the automobile strippers.

Etheridge and Nickerson said they had recovered four hubcaps which had been identified as belonging to an auto owned by J. A. Smith, 455 Venable St., N. E. Venable reported the loss of his hubcaps short time before the arrests.

Also in the auto operated by the youths, police said they found a camera and a pair of brass knucks.

The four were being investigated in connection with eight auto strippings, reported by H. L. Maddox, 701 Delmar St., N. E.; L. M. Sanders, Jr., of 560 Howell Pl., S. W.; Harry Siegel, 886 Plymouth Rd., N. E.; Dorsey Elliott, 419 Venable; W. J. Kirkland, 582 McAfee St., N. E.; L. C. Rooks, 329 Holderness St., S. W., and B. L. Berry, of 1189 Lucille Ave., Southwest.

They also are being questioned about similar raids that have been reported almost daily for several months, Etheridge and Nickerson declared.

CONFERENCE HIGHLIGHTS

Atlanta 'Meet Mart' For Methodists

By THOMAS M. ELLIOTT

THEY LIKE ATLANTA — For its thirty-sixth time the North Georgia Methodist Annual Conference has trekked to Atlanta for its annual session. This reporter asked "How come?" No other city has entertained the Conference one-third as many times. When members were asked "How come?" they all said they like Atlanta. When the Conference formerly assembled here just before Christmas, Santa Claus was the attraction.

The attraction now seems to be the prices on sealskin coats, said to be much better than in other localities. Anyhow, such popularity must be deserved.

FRIED CHICKEN—This reporter, who happens to be a retired Methodist preacher with a 44-year record as an expert A-1 chicken eater, rises to ask the question, "Why should fried chicken cost only 35 cents during the Baptist World Congress nine years ago, and now at a Methodist annual conference cost 90 cents?" Chickens at 90 cents for Methodists have no more gizzards, necks and feet than Baptist chickens at 35 cents.

PREACHERS GO TO JAIL—Monday some 100 Atlanta preachers will go to jail and take a three-hour rap. Here's how it is: Warden W. H. Hiatt and Chaplain H. P. Tucker, of the Federal Penitentiary have invited the Atlanta Evangelical Ministers Association to visit the institution from 11 a. m. to 2 p. m. Monday. Maybe a hundred will go. Lunch will be served "on the line," visitors eating with the inmates and getting the same food. The program includes a tour of the prison, with brief talks by some of the inmates and department supervisors. Instructions given those who plan to visit the prison are as follows: Be on time at 11 a. m. Leave at home all knives, pistols and other contraband articles, park cars at the entrance, leave keys with outside guard, and enter and leave in a body.

WATER WAGON PROSPERITY—Some months ago Pastor Huckaby, of Wesley Memorial Church, and Bert Flynn, set up a saving station on Pryor Street where alcoholics might find refuge and have a chance to get rehabilitated. "The Lighthouse," as the place is called, has been a success from the start in leading a number of alcoholics into a redeemed and rehabilitated life.

The true story has to do with a Western North Carolina alcoholic who heard of The Lighthouse, and determined to find his way to it. He hitchhiked several hundred miles to the place, told his story, and was given welcome greetings. Clothes were supplied the man: he was given a place to stay, and encouraged to seek a job. He became a doorbell ringer and a salesman.

That was three months ago.

Today that man is a redeemed alcoholic, has a job that pays him $100 a week, and an expense account of the same amount per week, and is going places as he rides the water wagon.

By the way, The Lighthouse is located at 724 South Pryor St. If the house were fully furnished, they could care for an additional 15 men. They need used furniture and money. If you can donate used furniture, call Bert Flynn—Walnut 2198—and he will send for it; if you can give money, send it to Miss Lora Robison, Treasurer, 118 Forrest Ave., N. E.

My check coming up, Miss Robison.

OLDEST AND YOUNGEST RETIRED—Dr. W. T. Hunnicutt, left, oldest in number of years in active ministry with 52; Dr. R. L. Russell, center, a veteran of 50 years in active ministry, and the Rev. W. H. Boring, admitted to the retired group yesterday after 31 years' service, gather at the Methodist Conference here.

Constitution Staff Photo—Pete Roton

SPONSORS FOR RETIRED MEN—The Rev. C. A. Hall, left, Superannuate Homes Board Agent, and Chairman J. C. Stiles will ask the Methodist Conference session today for adoption of a fellowship plan more complete than any heretofore used.

the list of retired men are: B. F. Mize, J. W. Brinsfield, J. F. Yarbrough, B. N. McHan, J. V. Jones, W. H. Boring.

Eleven young ministers admitted on trial yesterday are: A. O. Jernigan, C. E. Askew, R. E. Blanchard, J. P. Seer, P. E. Curry, W. J. Lamb, J. L. Weldon, H. C. Holland, Jr., W. R. Ridgeway, J. R. Thompson and C. B. Hendrix.

For today's conference session a special order will be considered, relative to a change of rules as to what authorities shall change the number of quarterly conferences to be held each year, and which conferences shall be held. A resolution regarding this was presented yesterday by the Rev. J. H. Barton. A special order of the day for 10 o'clock Saturday morning is consideration of the temperance report to be submitted by Dr. E. Nash Broyles.

The Board of Lay Activities will highlight the proceedings today. The Board is to have its annual meeting today at 11 o'clock, when election of a successor to the late Dr. Hubert T. Quillian as Conference Lay Leader will be chosen. At 1 o'clock the Laymen's Board will have luncheon at the Ansley Hotel, with an attendance of 450 expected. Bishops Arthur Moore and Fred Corson will be speakers. The night session will be devoted entirely to the Laymen's Board anniversary.

Another special phase of the program for today will be the four-year program for all Methodism, as adopted by the May session of the Methodist General Conference.

Bishop Marvin A. Franklin, now of Jackson, Miss., was a visitor at the North Georgia Conference yesterday, for his first visit to any annual conference since becoming a bishop. For a brief period he was made presiding officer of his home conference, through the courtesy of Bishop Moore.

The social function announced for tonight is the dinner at the Ellen Rice Tea Room, 6 p. m., by the Young Harris College Alumni Association.

handsome prizes for the Atlanta winner.

Three special races will be a colorful feature of tomorrow's program.

Youngsters will drive cars representing the Army, Navy and Marines and Capital Airlines, Greyhound Bus Lines and the Seaboard Railway.

The drivers are Madison Smith, Georgia Baptist Orphans Home, Marines; Jon Phillips, 852 Pinehurst Terrace, U. S. Army; Ronald Oldham, 641 Schuyler Ave., U. S. Navy; Buddy Smith, 1187 Boulevard Drive, S. E., Capital Airlines; Philip Cornell, 1604 Still Drive, N. W., Greyhound Bus Lines, and Ellis Berryman, 15 Helena St., Seaboard Railway.

Former Derby winners, Tommy Eidson in 1947 and Lamar Trammell in 1946, will compete in a special two-car event. Both machines have the lettering, "The Atlanta Constitution," on the side.

These added attractions will bring more color and thrills to the championship finals of the Atlanta Derby, cosponsored by The Atlanta Constitution and local Chevrolet dealers. Everyone is extended a cordial invitation to attend the thrill-filled blue ribbon event of boydom.

GAY REFUGEE

concentration camp to concentration camp until her liberation by the Swedish Red Cross in May, 1945.

Although she has regained most of the 60 pounds she lost, she still has a scar on her forehead which a German guard made with a brick, and an identification number, "81820," which the Germans tattooed on her arm.

"They cut off all my hair," she recalled, "when they caught me smoking a cigarette once."

"They" also threatened to shoot her for insolence when she laughed at a peg-legged German, but she protested her innocence so vehemently they spared her.

"I really did laugh," she admits now, "and when they let me go, I got hysterical—but they didn't see me."

Miss Weile has an overflowing storehouse of "horror" stories about other prisoners who were shot, beaten or choked to death for some trivial reason. And sometimes, "for no reason at all."

Concentration camps where she was held include those at Vught (in Holland), Auschwitz, Reichenbach, Langenbilau, Trautenau, Minden, Beendorf, Ludwigslust and Hamburg.

Miss Weile has lived for the past two years with friends in Holland. All the time her Atlanta relatives were trying to arrange her entry into the United States. Now that she's here, she says she is "very, very happy!"

Preached 50 Years, Dr. King Retires

Dr. W. P. King, retired Methodist minister who began his ministry in 1898 with the Leary Circuit in South Georgia Conference, this year is celebrating his fiftieth year of participation in affairs of Methodist conferences in Georgia.

Dr. King, who formerly contributed a feature for The Constitution, is the author of six books. He also has edited three other volumes.

His latest book, "The Search for Happiness," probably is his most popular work. His last pastorate was the First Methodist Church, Athens.

North-South Expressway Bids Open

The State Highway Department yesterday announced it would receive bids on the first section of the North-South Expressway to be built through Atlanta.

Col. A. V. Shelton, Assistant Highway Engineer, said the proposed six-lane highway section to be let extended a distance of 1.5 miles between Merritt's Avenue and Sixteenth Street, N. E. It will cost approximately $1,500,000.

The contract calls for completion of what is known as the North intermediate section within 350 working days from the time the contract is let. Bids will be received up until July 30.

The super highway will be divided by islands and will either go over or under roads it crosses or close existing streets, Shelton said. The total expressway project is being jointly financed by Federal, State, County, and City funds.

Wiggins Named, L & N, and ACL Merger Looms

WILMINGTON, N. C., July 15 (UP)—The Atlantic Coast Line and Louisville & Nashville railroads set the stage for eventual merger today, naming Treasury Undersecretary A. L. M. Wiggins as Board Chairman for both lines. ACL Headquarters here announced A joint meeting of both lines, directors in New York selected Wiggins, a Hartsville, S. C., banker, the ACL general office here said.

A. L. M. Wiggins

Wiggins, whose resignation as Undersecretary of the Treasury became effective today, succeeds Frederick D. Adams as ACL Board Chairman. Adams will serve as Chairman of the Executive Committee of both the ACL and the L & N. The shift is effective September 1.

Eventual merger of the two lines and the Nashville, Chattanooga & St. Louis Railroad which they control jointly would create one of the largest railway systems in the Nation and the biggest in the South.

HUSBAND-UNCLE AGAINST THE LAW

The State Legal Department yesterday regretfully informed a citizen of Flint, Mich., he could not be the husband and uncle of the same woman at the same time under the laws of Georgia.

In reply to an inquiry if it were legal for a man to marry his half sister's daughter, Atty. Gen. Eugene Cook said a marriage of this sort would be illegal since it fell within the "Levitical degrees of consanguinity." Half-blood is generally considered the same as whole blood, Cook said.

MISSOURI BROADCAST—A. F. Her husband told police she had "packed her grips and left." . . . Mrs. Anna Wagenlander, 79, Newport, Ky., filed two suits in Common Pleas Court, Cincinnati, charging she had been bitten and mauled in the swank Cincinnati Club by a chimpanzee belonging to the Zo-Ological Society of Cincinnati . . .

Tired Kidneys Often Bring Sleepless Nights

Doctors say your kidneys contain 15 miles of tiny tubes or filters which help to purify the blood and keep you healthy. When they get tired and don't work right in the daytime, many people have to get up nights. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder. Don't neglect this condition and lose valuable, restful sleep.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may also cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, a stimulant diuretic, used successfully by millions for over 50 years. Doan's give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

The Party Changes Hands

PHILADELPHIA—What has happened now is that the Democratic Party has made a decision and a gamble. Faced with the issue of the Southern revolt, it sought to compromise, but only a little. When the issue of States' rights reached the floor of the convention which ended about 3 o'clock Thursday morning, the big Eastern city political leaders, joined by the Western States, took over the party.

It is necessary that the South understand this cold and realistic fact. These Party leaders had determined they could not continue themselves, and they believed the Party could not continue without a strong civil rights plank. They were not sure about the future. They could not know how much of the Party success in the past 16 years was the success of Franklin D. Roosevelt and how much of it was the success of the program. This was the gamble they had to take. It meant ignoring the South. They had won in the past four elections without the South. So, they took the gamble. Only the future will determine how right or wrong they were and are.

The South must understand something else, as it contemplates this just-ended convention in the reality of the cold gray dawn of the morning after. And what the Southern people, for their own good, and the good of their region, must know is that an era is ended. The Democratic Party has chosen to shake out of it the one element which was always incongruous anyhow—the conservative Southerner who always voted Democratic, but who never believed in much of the program. The South, for example, will not 'at all agree with the plank calling for repeal of the Taft labor law.

The Eastern cities have become the owners of the Party for the time being, and perhaps for the future. But it is important for the Southerners, seeking to evaluate that future, to keep in mind that the Western States joined the East in the gamble to ignore the South.

So, on the one issue to which the South most objected, there is little difference between the Republicans and the Democrats. The South, which was mother and nurse to the Democratic Party, has been told, very, very plainly, it is not longer welcome with its ideas. For the time being there is no place to go. The next years will see the slow change as the new Democratic Party evolves based on the large cities of the nation, and as the Republican Party moves slowly into the South. An era is ended.

For the moment, the South must not misunderstand what has happened. There was here no consideration for the deep South position from either the East or the West. It is a time for evaluation and decision.

—R. M.

Gen. John J. Pershing

To the younger generation the names of Eisenhower, MacArthur, Marshall and others are synonymous with military ability and valor of the highest order.

Without in the slightest minimizing the heroic exploits and magnificent leadership of these generals of World War II, the older generation nevertheless has retained a special place in its heart for Gen. John J. Pershing, whose almost legendary achievements played a great part in winning World War I for the Allies.

Gen. Pershing died early Thursday morning at the age of 87. He had been out of the public eye for many years, having made his last public appearance in 1943. But he was never out of the memory of a great portion of the public which, for all its foibles and fickleness, recognizes and appreciates a great leader when one comes along.

To Gen. Pershing, Eisenhower, MacArthur, Marshall and a host of others were "my boys." Many of them earned their first battle spurs under his command in France. They went on to prove their own worth and the value of their mentor's teachings in World War II, which Gen. Pershing followed from a suite in the Walter Reed Hospital at Washington.

Gen. Pershing will remain among the truly great Americans not merely for his military aptitude that gained this nation its first world-wide victory at arms. His simple honesty and forthrightness bespoke of character and faith that somehow placed him above ordinary mortals. He declined, as one of his proteges has recently declined, to capitalize upon his popularity by seeking political preferment.

The nation has lost not merely a great military hero. It has lost a symbol of valor and manhood that distinguished itself for all time from the fragile imitations that are forever cropping up.

'Civil Rights' Plank Kills Party Unity

PHILADELPHIA—The end of the always incompatible union between Northern cities and the South which has been the Democratic Party became an irretrievable certainty when President Truman's so-called civil rights program was written into the Democratic national platform.

The only comparable incident within memory was the defeat by a half-vote margin—442 to 442½, approximately—in the Democratic convention of 1924 of a resolution aimed against racial and religious bigotry and condemning the Ku Klux Klan by name. That was the preliminary for the deadlock for two weeks and more than 100 ballots between Gov. Al Smith, backed by the Northern cities, and William G. McAdoo, supported by the South and portions of the rural North and West. John W. Davis, nominated in the end from sheer exhaustion, carried only 10 States of the solid South and Kentucky and Oklahoma. He lost Tennessee, the first time it had ever gone Republican.

The real pay-off on that 1924 battle, however, came in 1928 when the South took its revenge on Gov. Smith. He lost Tennessee, Virginia, North Carolina, Florida and Texas, and the only States he carried outside the South were Massachusetts and Rhode Island.

The unequivocal indorsement of his civil rights program conceivably may help President Truman in Northern States which poll large Negro and other racial-group votes. But there can be no doubt as to its disastrous effect on the Democratic chances in the South.

By popular vote Alabama Democrats denied their electoral votes to President Truman on account of his civil rights program and Mississippi, South Carolina, Arkansas and Virginia long had been maneuvering in the same direction.

Fully alive to this threat, the President's managers hand-picked a platform-drafting subcommittee with the single purpose of searching for a civil rights plank that would avert the North-South break. Helped along by the acceptance of Sen. Barkley for Vice President, it looked for awhile as if this effort at appeasement had succeeded. Though the fuzzy commitment of the Party to racial and religious equality contained in the committee draft was protested by the Southerners, they seemed in no mood to bolt about it.

But the old New Dealers saw in this situation an opportunity to offset a little the humiliations they had suffered on account of their abortive booms for Gen. Eisenhower and Supreme Court Justice Douglas.

Sparked by Mayor Hubert Humphrey of Minneapolis, the New Dealers offered a resolution spelling out the racial equality program in detail and commending President Truman by name for his support of it.

This provision was adopted, 651½ to 582½, after the convention had voted down, 925 to 309, a Southern proposal to reaffirm the Democratic Party's traditional position that "the power to regulate and control local affairs and act in the exercise of the police power" is reserved for the individual States.

The effect of this action on the States already threatening to bolt was indicated when Gov. Ben Laney of Arkansas withdrew his candidacy for President on the ground that he could not run on the Party platform.

And while indications at present are that Virginia, North Carolina and Tennessee will not bolt formally, the damage in them to President Truman on account of the civil rights plank may be even greater.

The prospect that Virginia, North Carolina and Tennessee will go Republican, regarded heretofore as no more than a distant possibility, approaches the realm of probability in the light of this Democratic national action.

It is known, for example, that the only reason Gov. Tuck and Sen. Byrd, leaders of the Virginia Democratic machine, are less inclined now to take their electoral votes away from President Truman than they were earlier, is the pressure they are receiving from all Democratic candidates for offices in their State. Democratic nominees for Congress and other offices in Virginia, North Carolina and Tennessee are frankly scared to death today for fear they will be carried down in a Truman-Barkley debacle.

GEORGIA EDITORS SAY

The Issue Of Jekyll Island

(The Brunswick News.)

Now that Georgia's political campaigns are officially under way, it is expected that the purchase of Jekyll Island will become a major issue. Much sound and fury will pour from the Talmadge camp as to what a "swindle" has been put over on the suffering taxpayers, and the Thompson faction doubtlessly will counter the thought that the island represents the best investment Georgia has ever made.

Regardless of what the politicos have to say about Jekyll, however, the verdict of the great rank and file of Georgians themselves is what counts. So far as the News has been able to determine, the majority of Georgia people are sold on the idea that the acquisition of the beach park was a thoroughly good thing. Now and then we run across a gripe, but most folks seem to be of the opinion that the resort was not only needed but will yield increasing health and welfare benefits through the years.

The South Must Understand---

PHILADELPHIA—For a long time we had known that President Harry S. Truman was in the Convention Hall in Room 205 where an air-conditioned unit was at work. But when at last the weary, hot hours of convention were done; when Truman was nominated and Sen. Barkley, too, there was the drama of their appearance.

It was almost 3 o'clock in the morning.

An era had ended a few hours before. It is easy to say that phrase and sometimes it is said lightly, but this time there was little doubt about it. It was not so much that when the President did come there would be no one sitting in the rows of seats assigned to Mississippi. It was not that in the Alabama section half the seats were empty. Nor could one look out there and see the tired faces of the other Southern delegations and see that an era had ended.

But, it had.

Ultimatum The high-pitched angry voices had died out. The anger and the bitterness had been revealed and ignored. The South had not been read out of the party, but told in unmistakable words that they could stay or go, as they pleased. It was hoped they would stay, but if they wanted to go then they could go.

The East and West had joined to do that. When Mississippi's delegation had walked out none had called "come back." Instead there was loud and derisive booing and laughter. So it had been for the half of Alabama's delegation departure. There was apparent nowhere any regret or desire to appease the South. I say this thus coldly and plainly so that the South may understand and know it.

Change What happened was that the industrial States of the nation, the big Eastern ones and those in the West, had taken over the Democratic Party and had begun to reshape it according to their own needs and desires. The Democratic Party of Wednesday morning was gone by Wednesday night.

But, on the surface, there was no sign of this as the big lights came on and the committee escorted the President of the United States and Sen. Alben Barkley, nominated to run with him, and their families to the platform.

For some unknown reason someone loosed a basket of pigeons. What the symbolism was none could explain. The poor, frightened, silly birds flew about the brilliantly lighted hall and dipped into the crowd where hands tried to catch them. It was a stupid thing to have done and for a time there the crowd was about to laugh itself into another mood.

Greeting It had been asked that there be no long demonstrations, because of the lateness of the hour. But there was a good, sincere greeting for the nominees, although it did not have in it any of the deep, confident bellow that used to greet Franklin Roosevelt.

You got the feeling of the new era as the President talked. Looking at the tired, weary faces in the crowd, one found it a little difficult to realize it was 3 o'clock in the morning and that a President was speaking, saying he was going to call back a Republican Congress and ask it to go to work on its own party platform of promises.

You felt, too, the fact that a new era was at hand as the President accented the platform which called for outright repeal of the Taft-Hartley law, and for legislation which ends for all times the theory of States' rights. Only the Supreme Court can determine how much of States' rights remains as it will test in the future laws which the Republicans will pass and which the Democrats will pass if they should, by some quirk of political fate, be retained in office.

Future The Democratic Party of the future is going to be more unified than it ever was when it contained the conservative Southern leadership and policy, requiring some great personality to hold that force the big city masses together. It will be, within eight years or less, a unified party directed by the city masses of the East and those of the West. It is going to become an urban party and a party of the political left devoted to the policies such as this platform expresses. The thoughtful person will not fail to note what has happened in the rest of the world and will note that this follows the pattern.

All this will not happen at once, although much of it already has happened here in this steaming, bitter convention. The Democratic Party, the old jerry-built one of Southern conservatisms and big-city pressures, now is the party of the cities and of the industrial working masses. This may, eventually, be a good thing for the country to have a two-party system which is more clearly defined.

Out But, for the time being, the South must not fail to know that when the new leaders of the party in the East and West had to decide between their policies and the South, they let the South go coldly and without hesitation. How much of the South will be with the Democratic Party of four or eight years from now no one may say. Some of it will. The South, too, has cities and it will be well for the South to keep that in mind as it seeks to evaluate its political future.

It is not a time now for hot words. They were said here in plenty. It is a time for evaluation.

'But I Was Invited to Leave, Suh!'

The Retreat From Philadelphia

The Democratic convention is over and the Party has now turned all its energies from the task of eliminating Truman to the equally impossible one of electing him.

The convention opened with the delegates searching for a candidate to take Truman's place and ended with them scrambling for a microphone to second his nomination.

Harry has had more ups and downs than an elevator operator.

The first two days of the convention, he didn't seem to have a friend under the sun. The last night he didn't have an enemy north of the Mason-Dixon line.

Southern Democrats again find themselves in their traditional position: All wrought up and no place to go.

Incidentally, I had been under the impression the issue at Philadelphia was going to be "Will the South Ditch Truman?"

. . . Instead of vice versa.

RALPH T. JONES

It'll Be Long Time Before Ideals Win

Well, the Democratic convention adopted the strongest civil rights plank offered for its platform. Over the opposition of the South, the enthusiastic supporters of President Truman's civil rights program succeeded in having their view on the issue incorporated in the party platform.

It has always seemed to me that the South, while fundamentally correct in its opposition to that program, because it places in Federal control matters which properly should be decided only by the individual States, has been wrong in assuming that the sole question involved is the question of race as between white and Negro. While that is the spotlighted issue in this part of the country, in actual fact the civil rights program seeks to secure the basic rights of all minority groups, regardless of race, religion, or other differentiation.

Further, it has seemed to me that Southerners, in accusing supporters of the Truman program of a direct attack on the South—of using unfair political tactics for sordid political reasons—do an injustice to many of those Truman program supporters.

Undoubtedly, many of the civil rights champions have been motivated by coldly practical political reasons. They have looked with covetous political eyes on the large blocs of Negro voters in some of the Northern States and have assumed, it now seems erroneously, that the Southern States will remain in the Democratic column, when the votes are counted next November, no matter how the party treats them.

Some Idealists But not all those who voted for the civil rights plank at Philadelphia did so from political or other less admirable motives. Some, beyond question, feel deeply on the issue from none save idealistic motives. They see in every instance of religious or racial bias a violation of the ideals on which American democracy is based and they consider themselves champions of a noble cause. They are, most of them, impractical and unaware of conditions in the South. But they are determined that, in enjoyment of the basic rights of an American citizen, neither Negro nor Jew, Oriental-American, Indian or other, shall be penalized because of race. Their championship is rooted in idealism and, in their view, is essential to the continuance of the American concept of human equality and democratic government.

It is these who contend that, if America continues to treat some of her own people as citizens of the second class only, America is merely a hypocrite when she urges democracy upon other nations of the world.

A Long Way Off Just an example of how other differences than those of race affect public opinion, consider what chance of election to high State office would a Catholic candidate have in Georgia? Why, I can remember the days, not so long ago, when it was common saying that only a member of the Baptist Church need expect to win a Georgia election. That was, of course, exaggeration, but it had sufficient basis in truth to be widely quoted. I dare say, too, circumstances are different today and it could be that a Presbyterian or a Methodist could be elected Governor. But not, you will agree, a Catholic. (Remember when Al Smith, a Catholic, ran for the presidency? Remember that mythical party that flourished in the Protestant South that year? The Hoovercrats?)

Idealists would champion the cause of the submerged Baptists of Boston as well as that of the submerged Catholics of Georgia.

Maybe there will come a day when idealism will become reality. A few centuries hence, perhaps. When that day does come the Truman program, too, may be realized. But one other condition will have to be met first. That is, the scheming men who have, this year, made political capital out of the emotional reactions to the civil rights issue, will no longer carry any weight in party affairs. For sordid schemes for unscrupulous political gain can have no place alongside idealism triumphant.

Politics may make strange bedfellows—but not that strange.

THE PULSE OF THE PUBLIC

The Constitution welcomes letters on either side of any subject. They should not exceed 200 words and must be signed, although names will be withheld on request. We regret none can be returned. Address all letters to Editor Constitution, Atlanta, Ga.

Time To Start

Editor Constitution: Everybody keeps talking about a two-party system for Georgia, but no one ever DOES anything about it. I don't believe anyone wants a two-party system.

"A two-party system would be the best thing that could happen to Georgia," everybody keeps saying . . . provided, I assume, that it can be had through voting the straight Democratic ticket.

As it is now, Georgia seems to be reaping the inevitable fruit of cultivating a strict one-party system—neither party pays any attention to it any more.

It is a foregone conclusion, according to the boys in the back room, that Truman is a defunct duck anyway, but that he will get the Georgia electoral votes, so what has Georgia got to lose by running up an impressive popular Republican vote?

I don't want to hear any more whining about a two-party system for Georgia. Either vote it now, or shut up!

Atlanta. JAKE BROWN.

Aidmore Thanks

Editor Constitution: We, the parents of the crippled children of Aidmore Hospital, wish to thank Mr. George Weisensel, magician, for giving his holiday, July 5, in entertaining our patients with a good clean magic show at Aidmore Hospital.

In the past few months we were very fortunate in having some of the country's foremost artists here to entertain the children, Abbott and Costello, Bob Hope, former Postmaster General James Farley and George Weisensel.

Atlanta. M. J. HENDERSON.

For Randall Evans

Editor Constitution: I was really delighted when I noticed in the paper that Randall Evans, of Thomson, had qualified as a candidate for Governor.

Within the past few months I have heard so many people say: "I just don't know wno to vote for, I don't want to vote for Thompson because he is controlled by Ed Rivers and Arnall, neither do I want to vote for Herman Talmadge because he is controlled by Roy Harris, and none of the others are big enough to fill the place."

Many of these people say they would be glad to vote for Ed, Arnall or Roy but do not want to vote for a man weak enough to allow either of these men to dictate to him.

I don't believe any of the opposition will attempt to blacken the record of Randall Evans, if for no other reason, they know there is absolutely nothing they can truthfully bring against him.

Evans is a man in every sense of the word and he is certainly well qualified and capable of "filling the Governor's Chair." If he is elected he will "hew to the line," let the chips fall where they may. He will not play political favorites but will do what he believes to be for the best interests of all the people of Georgia.

I hope the people of Georgia will see fit to elect this stalwart young Democrat. However, if you do see fit to vote for him or use your influence for him, then, because of that fact, do not expect to pull a big plum out of the political pie for individuals but for the people as a whole.

His greatest handicap in making this race is the fact that he will not stoop to dirty politics such as mudslinging and making dirty political deals. However, this is one time I believe the people of Georgia will see through all the cheap political claptrap usually offered them, and will vote for a man who really has in his heart a sincere desire to build a greater Georgia.

Baxley. E. L. McCRAVEY.

Elect Herman

Editor Constitution: In regard to a letter written by Mrs. G. B. Sinyard about the statue of Eugene Talmadge, I am a strong defender of both Herman and his father, Eugene.

I am an ex-soldier of World War II and also was reared on a farm.

Herman is strictly a farmer's friend, and will stand by them 100 percent. But some of the people that Herman would be a friend to are so narrow-minded that all they can see is E. D. Rivers and his cohorts.

So my plea is that the people wake up and elect a man for Governor that will give us a sound State Government and that man is "Herman Talmadge."

College Park. W. C. PLOTT.

For Thompson

Editor Constitution: Recently I read a letter in Pulse of the Public which stated the honest people put Gene Talmadge into office and they thought Herman should take over. I think they will find Gene was elected to the office, not Herman. Herman Talmadge had no more right to that place than the lowliest person in the world.

And to put a statue of Gene on the lawn would mean that before the thing was over the future Governors would soon be having pieces of bronze statues for dinner. After all, the Capitol lawn isn't the only thing in Atlanta!

Madison. A THOMPSON MAN.

Talmadge Fan

Editor Constitution: We, the people of South Georgia, want to offer our thanks to Herman Talmadge for offering himself for Governor, he being the son of Gene Talmadge, a great statesman and a great Governor. Gene stood for white supremacy. And so do we. The main plank in Herman's platform is white supremacy. We know that when Herman is elected Governor, he will be Governor. He will not be pulled or tossed around by a bunch of people that do not know anything about State's business and State's affairs.

Donalsonville. J. E. MEDLEY.

Hint to Grady

Editor Constitution: Last week I was asked for a blood donation to be given at Grady Hospital.

I gave seven times during the war at Red Cross—it was always clean.

This was my second time at Grady and both times I had to lie down on a pad that was bloody and dirty. I could take a newspaper or towel with me, but it seems that a place like that could be kept clean, and have fresh papers or cloth at least to go under your head.

Will the Storm Gather Force?

PHILADELPHIA—(This is a dispatch that might be dropped overboard in a bottle to wash up on some of our Southern or Northern shores any time in the weeks or months hence and it may look just like one in any other bottles that might have been fished out of the sea in the last hundred years.)

It is written in a storm, not a storm at sea, but a storm on a convention floor. Angry men and women are shouting, almost snarling, at each other over an issue that still isn't settled and bobs up every so often first to plague, then to break up for a time, one of our great political parties.

It is the great issue of human rights which rises eternally in one form or another.

State placards are bobbing angrily, too, like life preservers clutched frantically by men and women tossed into a raging sea from a sinking ship, and the simile seems apt, for there is something reminiscent of a sinking ship in this episode here.

By the time this dispatch gets to its destination, even by our fast modern communication system, the storm now raging before the eyes of this reporter will have long since passed. The Democratic Party will have adopted its platform, the civil rights plank of which is the cause of this storm. It will have its candidates for President and Vice President in Harry S. Truman and Sen. Alben W. Barkley, of Kentucky. Southerners will have hurled their last defiant rebel yell and a corps of workmen who live by their muscles honestly and not by their wits precariously like politicians will have cleaned away the debris, the posters, the campaign buttons, to make the hall ready for another convention which will nominate two more men for President and Vice President in a third party—to reveal again the turmoil and uncertainty of the times in which we live.

This great hall here has seen some history in the last few weeks as perspiring men and women have sat here in the heat under the lights. For the first time, because of television, they have done their work, made their speeches and listened to speeches, boiled up in enthusiasm and anger, like actors on a Hollywood set—in public view. And that, of itself, is a piece of history.

The Republicans were here first before the Democrats and the Henry Wallace third party comes next. The first and the last of these are not disturbed by the issue that is the cause of this storm here among the Democrats. Republicans settled it for themselves when Abraham Lincoln issued his emancipation proclamation on Jan. 1, 1863, midway of the War Between the States, and therefore they can give it lip service constantly, year after year, without objection. It is accepted, too, by the Henry Wallace party.

But Democrats are still tortured with it because of their Southern wing, even though, as a number of speakers here have pointed out, their party has accomplished much in the last 16 years to break down racial and religious discriminations through the influence of Franklin D. Roosevelt.

But Harry S. Truman went the more politic Franklin D. Roosevelt one better. He spelled it all out in very specific terms and asked Congress, bluntly, to make it the law of the land. So he raised up for himself the storm that rages about him here.

As we watch, the storm rises and then abates, and all in so short a time.

But the spectacle here is timeless, as timeless as the great fight for human rights. The scene is like something out of a history book, with only the costumes different. It might have been a convention in that troubled decade before the War Between the States when earnest men searched anxiously for compromise on an issue that won't be compromised. The same bitter words were said.

The Whig Party tried to compromise it, and withered away in the process. A new party was born and became strong because it would not compromise it, and that party since has ruled periodically for long stretches and seems now on the verge of returning to power again, though not, of course, only because of that issue.

The Democratic Party finally splintered off into three national conventions in 1860 and was not able to pull itself together for a long time afterward, for this is an issue that tears men apart so they cannot work together in peace.

Again the Southerners talk of another convention of their own—of going down to Birmingham.

Why don't they go to Montgomery where the Confederate States of America was created? The cycle would be complete.

Democrats Are a Mighty Flighty Lot

WASHINGTON—For a while there, the way those Democrats were inciting each other to riot, I thought I'd never get out of Philadelphia alive. And then I thought I'd never get out of Philadelphia, period. On account of my hotel bill. But the Democrats eventually subsided in favor of H. Truman, without actual mayhem, while the hotel man who'd socked me $19.50 per day for what he laughingly called a suite on an air-shaft let me sign the bill. And I beat it for home before the Democrats changed their minds again and held another convention.

Now that I've had a cool shower and a chance to think about their wonderful, wacky session in the city of brotherly love I have decided they are flighty folks. I say this advisedly and without meaning to insult 'em. I couldn't keep up with their whirligig. I'd turn my head for a minute and a Truman-hater would turn into a rooter for Harry S.

There was the Hon. Jake Arvey, of Chicago, who denounced Mr. T. for weeks and then announced one hot night that he didn't mean it. The Hon. James Roosevelt, who didn't think so much of the President, either, made a final speech saying he did.

I'll never forget the Hon. Claude Pepper, either. One night he was tearing down Ike Eisenhower's pictures and setting himself up in business, with kisses, flash bulbs and handshakes, the people's friend. He said he was going to be nominated as President.

The following evening the Hon. Claude was tearing down his own photographs. He'd changed his mind. The Hon. Ben Laney, the millionaire Governor of Arkansas, did the same trick, but it cost him money because he didn't change his mind until after he bought a supply of Laney-for-President buttons.

The supporters of Mr. Justice William O. Douglas couldn't decide whether to make him President, or Vice President. They bought signs advertising him for both jobs. Then he said he'd skip both of 'em. And along came the Hon. Alben W. Barkley, of Kentucky, who was sure he didn't want to be nominated as President, but couldn't make up his mind until the final penultimate moment whether he'd rather be Vice President or Senator from Kentucky.

By now the fellows were snarling at each other. Some of 'em from Alabama and Mississippi got up and announced they were walking out of the joint. The Hon. Sam Rayburn, wearing the unhappiest expression I've ever seen on a bald man, told 'em to sit down. Some of the Democrats cheered. Some booed. Some hissed. The situation was as gummy as my fingers, which were sticking together in the clam chowder the Democrats chose to breathe instead of air. Outside the night was cool, but within the convention hall the superheated Democrats were cooking themselves on gas.

A Georgian in horn-rimmed eye-glasses nominated Sen. Richard B. Russell as President. Delegate Tom C. King, of Alabama, simultaneously stood in front of a television camera and threw his pretty badge away. He said he wanted no more of the Democrats.

He led a parade of Southerners who paused under the Kleig lights and consigned their jewelry to the wastebasket. This was serious. Like a girl giving back her engagement ring.

As you may already have read, Mr. Truman did get the official nod and all I can add is that the next four years ought to be joyous. No more conventions, unless the embattled Democrats change their minds again. Keep all 10 fingers crossed.

Another Bedtime Story From Broadway

Don't look now, kiddies, but there's a strange light coming through the window. It's what astronomers call the "Sun," and in my book, it's only good for apricots. Better pay your tab and head for home before its rays start burning a hole in your face.

What's that? You won't go beddy-bye until I've served up another drink and another sleepy-time saga? Okay, my tinies. If you'll promise not to play "Nature Boy" on the juke box again, Uncle Willie will tell you a Broadway bedtime story about a charmer, a chaser and a chump. . . .

Gloria Wandrix was the unlikely name of our charmer. Her stems hit the Main Stem about the time breweries were moving into bathtubs, and overnight she became the Melba toast of the town. For some 15 years—and some 15 years they were!—this beauteous babe was the first lady of our musical comedy theater. Broadway put her on a pedestal, and then skinned its knuckles and shins trying to climb up within grabbing distance of her.

But only one gent made it—Sandor Lukaaz, a stumblebum playwright from somewhere east of the Danube. Gloria offered to drive him home from a party one night, and for reasons best known to themselves, the car kept going until it got to Maryland, where a parson asked the $64 question.

Broadway didn't give this marriage a chance, but as per usual, Broadway was wrong. When Sandor's plays failed to click, Gloria made him her manager, paid his staggering tailor bills, and supported him in a manner to which he definitely was not accustomed. But was Sandor grateful? Not so's you could notice it, kiddies. Almost before the wedding champagne had a chance to ripen into hang-overs, he was back playing the field again, chasing up any hill and down any dale that harbored a pair of high heels.

Strangely enough, this didn't seem to make any difference to Gloria. Instead of tossing the bum out on his well-barbered head, the star let it be known she was crazy about him and had every intention of staying that way.

A year later, the wisenheimers thought they had the answer in the very personable person of Jimmy Barnish. Jimmy was a rich and talented architect from upstate, and he started his promising career in New York by promising to be the other man in Gloria's life.

The know-it-alls figured it this way: Sandor was strictly a lobby guy who ran, fetched and carried while the architect carried on with the fetching Gloria; the star had realized what a stinker she'd gotten hitched to, and had turned to Jimmy Barnish for the usual reasons.

But, my tots, 'tweren't so. This was one Times Square triangle which was on the square. To Jimmy Barnish from Schenectady, Gloria Wandrix was a great lady, and the kick of seeing and being seen with the star was enough for him. He was one of those gentle cuckoos who are content to worship a lady from afar, or at least from the other side of a table at the Colony. Naturally, to Gloria, the architect was dream stuff. The star wanted what every girl wants—to be loved and adored, and being a star, she indulged herself in the luxury of doubling up—getting love from one man and adoration from another.

Only once, my teentsie-weentsies, did the architect suggest that she divest herself of her stumblebum playwright. That was when the papers carried a lot of ugly headlines about two irate husbands locating their wives in Atlantic City with—you guessed it—Sandor Lukaaz.

"Gloria, darling," said Barnish the night the papers hit the street, "divorce this scoundrel and marry me. I've loved you for a long time, you know."

"It would never work, my sweet," said the actress. "The attentions you pay me are very flattering to a woman who's getting on. But I doubt whether they'd continue if you saw me morning after morning brushing my teeth, pulling the curlers out of my hair, having my before-coffee tantrums. No, my pet, let's keep it the way it is. Leave the wifely side of me to Sandor—he deserves it."

What's that, Belinda? You won't go home until I tell you what happened to this strange trio? Nothing happened, my little one. They're still around town and still cutting it up three ways. Gloria retired from the stage years ago, but I still see her now and occasionally. As a matter of fact, she gives this joint quite a play, sometimes with the stumblebum, but usually with the architect. On holidays, the three of them come in together—to celebrate the perfect life, I suppose.

And now it's time to lock up, kiddies. On your way out, I'm sure the headwaiter would appreciate it if you tipped him an extra fin. He bought an apartment house last Winter and the bums at City Hall recently raised his tax assessment. Sweet nightmares.

THE QUESTION:

What do you think of GI housing?

THE ANSWERS:

MRS. H. S. PRIDGEN, JR., Trailer Village, Emory, housewife—All I know is that we feel awfully lucky to have the trailer. We had an apartment before that proved quite unsatisfactory. The trailers are better with children — at least here you can turn them loose outdoors and watch them. We've been here a little over two years and have had a chance at getting in the Clifton Road apartments and permanent apartment buildings, but I much prefer the trailer. The one thing I have noticed — graduates appreciate the housing they had at the University. They not only find housing difficult to locate, but the prices are so much higher.

CLAY DRISKELL, Trailer Village, Emory, electrical engineering—I don't know what they're offering other places, but I think the facilities we have here are pretty nice. You know we have running water and electric lights. Only thing I've got against these trailers is they're mighty hot during a heat wave, but it's pretty hot to keep cool anywhere then. I make a little extra money selling produce to the other trailer occupants. If everything goes on schedule, I'll be out next June.

MRS. MALCOLM BOON, Trailer Village, Emory, housewife—I think all veterans' housing is strictly high. An ordinary fellow graduating from college who doesn't specialize won't make much money for two or three years after he gets out. The rents are so terribly high that you can't meet them, or by the time you've paid them, you have nothing else left. We figure it takes $15 or $20 a week for food for the three of us. Time you pay $80 a month for food; $70 or $75 for an apartment, you haven't much left for clothes and other expenses. What we'd like to do is buy a house, so we could be investing that money that would ordinarily go for rent.

MRS. B. A. REEVES, Trailer Village, Emory, housewife — Of course, we rented this from the university before my husband graduated from school. Now he is working for the university and we're hoping that we'll get a place in one of the apartment buildings Emory owns. We've had the usual difficulties in looking for other places with a baby. So many places don't want children. If not that, we'll just have to keep looking until we find something.

MALCOLM BOON, Trailer Village, Emory, Economics—I just finished school last quarter. What the school does, is to allow students remain in the trailers until they find a place. I know friends of ours up on the hill stayed on for three or four months until they found a place to move to. The thing we like about them is that they're much more private; they're furnished and have yard space. There are some inconveniences as far as storage space goes—you have to utilize every bit.

R. D. PHILLIPS, Clifton Road Apts., Emory, biology major — I think it's sort of an emergency measure that suffices for the present. With the rent situation what it is, it's a problem keeping me in school, for otherwise we could not find another place to stay. As to the apartment itself, it isn't elaborate, but it's very livable. I graduate in March and I don't know at present whether I'll take post-graduate work here or elsewhere.

MRS. R. B. SINGLETARY, Trailer Village, Emory, housewife and nurse—We're pretty well satisfied with our trailer right now. My husband is building a lab in the yard, so he can put his dental equipment out there. We seem to have about everything we need. For a while, the families here didn't have a nursery, but now they have a nursery school here on the campus. I'm a nurse in the hospital in the Summer. Most of the men keep the children in Summer and get their vacation that way.

The Kremlin Bucks the Tide

The Kremlin is on the kind of spot it hasn't been on since the war closed.

Russia's prestige and self-confidence are sorely in need of bolstering. Though the drama may not be over, Tito's so-far-successful defiance of the Kremlin greatly lowered the Politburo in the estimation of the satellite States and Western Europe as well.

Then came the Finnish elections which left the Communist Party—37 seats in Parliament where it formerly held 51, and reduced the Party from the strongest to third place. And, more lately, Communists have suffered heavy losses in The Netherlands' elections.

To add insult to injury, Tito's Yugoslav Government has just about wound up negotiations with the United States to release in the neighborhood of $40,000,000 worth of assets which have been frozen in this country. The Yugoslavs agreed, with surprising suddenness sometime ago, to accept the U. S. estimate of $17,000,000 as the amount due on American war claims. Presumably this figure includes compensation for the U. S. fliers shot down over Yugoslavia several months ago.

TOTAL Yugoslav holdings in this country amount to $55,000,000 to $60,000,000. If Tito gets the balance, after U. S. claims are paid, he will be in a much better position to continue his defiant attitude toward the Kremlin. The chief obstacle in the way of his success has been the dependence of Yugoslavia upon economic help from and trade with Russia and the satellite countries.

All these things are in the background to Russia's refusal to accept the American-British-French protests and end the blockade of Berlin. The Kremlin still is smarting from a series of defeats that began with the failure of the Communist Party at the polls in Italy in the Spring. Now, instead of gaining ground as had been expected, the Soviet finds itself confronted with dissension in its own ranks. Berlin represents a desperate effort to reverse the tide.

Russia does not want war now. She isn't prepared for war yet and she was not willing to risk any move in the Berlin situation that might provoke conflict. But, the American political campaign is requiring much of Washington's attention; U. S. military strength at the moment is at a low ebb; the puny forces of the Western Allies in Berlin are completely bottled up in a position that would become untenable at the first show of hostilities. Under these conditions the Kremlin felt utterly safe in refusing to do anything about Berlin.

The reply was not unexpected. On the contrary, the Western nations had little hope that Russia would respond favorably.

WHAT THE KREMLIN seeks now is to regain the prestige that has been lost in recent weeks by political reverses within her own sphere. One way to accomplish that aim is a victory over the United States, France and Great Britain in Berlin.

Russia's rejection defined the blockade as temporary, but evidently there is no intention of lifting it in the immediate future. She hopes eventually to force the Western countries out of the German capital completely. Indeed, such intentions are clearly expressed in the rejection note. Once that is done the Kremlin will be free to Sovietize all of Eastern Germany with the traditional capital of the nation as the core of operations. Meanwhile, a barrage of propaganda would be directed at the Western zone declaring to the nationalistic Germans the three Western Governments to be responsible for dividing the nation. They would be invited to join Russia's German State once they were free of Western military occupation.

The West can take the Berlin case to the United Nations, but that would serve only to delay matters while the blockade continued in force. And evetnally Russia could be counted on to veto any UN action directed against her. Appeal to the UN could accomplish only one purpose—to air the dispute on a world sounding board, bringing the pressure of public opinion to bear against Russian aggression.

For the time, at least, the Kremlin continues to hold the upper hand in Berlin. Whether she will gain the ultimate victory she considers necessary to recoup lost prestige depends on the next moves of the West.

The Purpose Of Education

Some time ago, one of the highbrow monthlies printed an article by a college professor concerning the faults of other college professors.

He said the typical professor, who teaches by lecturing begins his career by writing enough lectures to cover one nine-month's term. That completes his life work. Thereafter he repeats the same stuff to each new batch of pupils, and doesn't have a new or original thought in 20 years.

That sounds fishy, or at least exaggerated, but the professor ought to know.

There was a time when people said the best school consisted of a pupil sitting on one end of a log and a certain noted educator sitting on the other end. It hasn't been quite that simple since the time of Socrates, but the idea is right. An ideal university would have a natural-born teacher devoting all his time to one or at most half a dozen keenly interested students.

But the present-day teacher can't do a good job, no matter how hard he tries.

REPORTS from a number of universities agree that married veterans, trying to make up for lost time, are making a serious business of getting an education, and teaching them is a pleasure.

But every big school is so crowded that a class may consist of any number from 50 up, and no professor can give the veterans and other serious students the attention they deserve.

The only way to mend matters quickly would be to eliminate all youngsters who are merely "going to college" because it is the fashionable thing to do, and either cheating their way through or sticking by the grace of their instructors' charity. They aren't doing themselves any good, and they are taking up space and time that should be given to young people who want an education and are able to absorb it.

The whole system of education needs working over. Like many other human interests, it is choking itself with too much organization. Competent teachers who should be in classrooms, and would prefer being there, are devoting all their time to "administrative work." They are like the doctors who volunteered for war work and then were kept busy behind desks, doing the work that any office girl could have done as well.

"Within the present century a large proportion of the people will depend on food tablets almost exclusively."
—Article excerpt.

It has been very wisely said . . . no one can tell what we . . . shall be in years that lie ahead . . . none of us can foresee . . . the changes that will come about . . . for things take place so fast . . . there's little chance to figure . . . the future from the past.

Now, grandpa drank his buttermilk . . . and ate his pone of bread . . . and always felt as fine as silk . . . at least, that's what he said . . . and then he sought his rocking chair . . . and took a little nap . . . the breezes blowing through his hair . . . his stomach in his lap.

If someone had reported . . . vitamins were in his meat . . . the old man would have snorted . . . that it wasn't fit to eat.

Well . . . in one way or another . . . we'll reduce the grocer's bills . . . so, pass the gravy, mother . . . and we'll pour it on our pills.

ALTAR STAIRS — By John Marvin Rast

I have set the Lord always before me: because he is at my right hand, I shall not be moved.—Psalm 16:8.

Endless discussion and analyses of prayer go on. They are to be welcomed, but they are not to be considered a substitute for prayer. Dr. James Reid makes this clear in his new book, "Where the New World Begins." He remarks, "Prayer is the way into God's fellowship." "But," he continues, "the value and power of it cannot be described in words or discovered by the reason. The only test is experience. The only way in which we can meet the doubts and hesitations that surround the subject of prayer is to pray." To know its full value we must live and labor in the atmosphere of prayer—in it beginning, continuing and perfecting every endeavor.

Father, only by prayer do we draw near Thy throne of grace. Receive us now and anoint us for acceptable ministry in Thy name.

Giants Could Make Use Of Ace Adams Now

IRON CITY, July 15—Mr. Ace Adams is fishing and farming this Summer, the first in years he hasn't been playing baseball, and he loves it (baseball, that is). Mr. Adams is a cagey gentleman. He proved that during his five years with the New York Giants when he established all sorts of records for relief pitching.

Of course, there are those who will argue that Mr. Adams didn't display much intelligence when he jumped to the Mexican League a couple of years ago and got himself suspended for five years. They could point to the present condition of Mr. Mel Ott's pitching staff and argue, with considerable logic, that Adams, even at 36 years of age, could undoubtedly be the ace of this staff.

All of which would suggest that Mr. Adams indeed did make a mistake in taking his trip south of the border.

But any such notions are quickly dispelled after a few minutes' conversation with the husky transplanted Californian.

End Was Near "Considering my five years with the Giants," Ace reasoned, "I pitched in 299 ball games. That's an average of about 60 per season. In 1943, I set the world's record for relief pitching by appearing in 70 games. All that work takes something out of your arm.

"Therefore, I knew there wasn't many major league pitches left in it when they made me the offer to go to Mexico. I took all this into consideration before accepting the job."

Viewed from this angle, one realizes that Mr. Adams' caginess wasn't confined entirely to the pitching mound.

"Of course," Ace continued, "I still win in baseball. I pitched down here in this semipro league at the start of the season before they barred me from that too. I won when I really bore down but found it harder and harder to do. I refused a very good offer from Max Lanier and the other boys who went to Mexico when they organized their barnstorming team. You see, I'm having too much fun farming and fishing."

Gardella a Character Seated in the trophy room of his home, Ace talked baseball for an hour. One of his favorite subjects was Danny Gardella, the little Italian who also jumped the Giants for the Mexican League.

"What a character he was," Ace laughed. "He was an acrobat and the first time I ever saw him he was standing on a bedpost in a hotel on one arm, his feet almost touching the ceiling. However, you soon got used to such antics and his opera singing and paid little attention to it.

"I guess his greatest trick was when he was rooming with Nap Reyes, a Cuban shortstop. He left Nap a note in the room saying he was going to jump out of the hotel window and people would think Nap pushed him and would hang him for murder. This naturally upset Reyes and he rushed to the open window and found Danny hanging by one arm, eight stories above the street. Reyes nearly had nervous prostration before he could get Danny back into the room.

Another of Gardella's favorite stunts was to interrupt a conference of the pitchers in Spring training to show us his form of coming off the mound. He would raise his left leg out straight and then fall forward, ending up in a split.

New Mexican Angle Ace brought up an interesting angle about the Mexican League which, as far as we know, is an entirely new one.

"You look at the records of the American pitchers who went down there," he said. "None of them won. Poor Harry Feldman lost about 12 straight games. Even Lanier won only seven. I think I won about five. The atmosphere had something to do with it but there was another reason.

"You see, the Mexican players were jealous of us. They had read about our salaries. Consequently, in a close game, it was uncanny the way they would boot just enough of them to get you beat."

Happy on Farm Adams' farm is several miles north of Iron City on the banks of Spring Creek, a beautiful stream of sky-blue water even in the wettest seasons.

Ace mainly raises peanuts. "Me and the hands cut 1,200 poles for them today," he said, as he showed a visitor around the place with considerable pride.

"I built all these buildings myself," he said, "and am going to finish my house before long." He showed us his freezer locker, his pure-blooded hogs, his Herefords and a 12-acre pond, full of fish.

"Baseball is all right," Ace grinned, "but this is the life for me, this is the first Summer I've been here and I'm making the most of it."

The rule is that most folks leave the East to go to California but Ace is the exception. He came to Georgia to pitch for Cordele in the Georgia-Florida League, married a Georgia girl and stayed here.

FAREWELL PARTY

Lindner Honored By East Lake Club

Henry Lindner was on his way to Charlotte this morning to take over his new duties as pro at the Charlotte Country Club, but he doubtless was thinking quite a bit about the fine tribute paid him by the East Lake Country Club at a farewell dogfite golf tourney and dinner last night at the Club.

The affair was very informal, but one could sense that the East Lake folks were sorry to lose their popular assistant pro who had won their admiration during his year's stay.

Everyone at the loserrs pay dinner came up to shake his hand and wish him well, and to cap the climax the golfers and Board of Directors presented him a check for $400.

Winners in the dogfite and also one of Club Manager Jimmy Fisher's fine buffet suppers were: E. T. Loyd, M. K. Pentocost, Alan Ford, H. C. Oliver, Dave Warner, Roger Martin, W. B. Oliver, W. A. Freeman, Charles Long, M. C. Webb, Ed Swanson, R. O. Estes, M. A. Thompson, G. B. Sisson, Trawick Johnson, Dr. W. C. Warren, P. W. O. Crawford, Carl Muller, Pete Barnes H. L. Barnhardt, W. D. Two Crackers on All-Stars

N. Brown Gets High Vote Tally

Atlanta's Brown boys, Norman and Ralph, were named on the Southern Association 1948 All-Star baseball squad which was announced by Secretary Bob Phillips of the Southern Association Baseball Writers Association yesterday in Birmingham.

Pitcher Norman, who, with Catcher Joe Astroth, Memphis, and Outfielder Charlie Workman, Nashville, received 17 of the 18 votes of the Southern sports writers, was the only Cracker to make the official team.

Outfielder "Country" Ralph moved up to the playing squad through the withdrawal of Outfielders Charlie Gilbert and Workman of the Vols. Ralph was second alternate among the outfielders.

All members of the Nashville club who were named on the 1948 All-Star team were replaced by alternates. The Vols, by virtue of being the leading club in the Southern race as of July 4, will oppose the All-Stars in the annual classic at Nashville's Sulphur Dell home on the night of July 20.

Nineteen players were selected on the All-Star team. No player was a unanimous choice. By virtue of receiving the highest number of votes along with Astroth and Workman, Norman Brown might be called on to start against the Vols.

Gilbert and Leo Twardy, Nashville pitcher, and Infielder Mickey Rutner, Birmingham, received 16 votes each.

Nashville placed five on the All-Star team. Mobile and Birmingham had three each. New Orleans failed to place a man.

The team (votes for first place in parentheses):

Catchers—Joe Astroth, Memphis (17); Joe Erautt, Little Rock (9); Sam Calderone, Mobile (8).

Pitchers—Norman Brown, Atlanta (17); Leo Twardy, Nashville (16); Ken Olson, Mobile (12), Ben Wade, Nashville (11); Charles Eisemann, Memphis (12); Russell Oppliger, Mobile (12).

Infielders—Walter Dropo, Birmingham, first base (10); Bill Kelly, Memphis, second base (10); Hal Quick, Nashville, shortstop (11); Mickey Rutner, Birmingham, third base (16); Bob Mavis, Little Rock (10) extra infielder.

Outfielders—Charlie Workman, Nashville (17); Charlie Gilbert, Nashville (16); Grover Bowers, Memphis (14); Tommy O'Brien, Birmingham (13).

Utility Player—Johnny Rizzo, Chattanooga (5).

Phillips said the Nashville players will be replaced on the squad for the All-Star game as follows:

Pitchers Twardy and Wade by Milo Johnson, Little Rock, and John Hall, Mobile; Shortstop Quick by Fred Hancock, Memphis; Outfielders Workman and Gilbert by George Wilson, Birmingham, and Ralph Brown, Atlanta.

Wade, Quick and Rutner were members of the 1947 All-Star team.

Among the more notable absentees of this year's squad is Al Flair, slugging New Orleans first baseman, who received only three votes for that position.

Louis-Lesnevich Go Reported in Making

CONDENSED FROM AP, UP, INS WIRE REPORTS

It will be Joe Louis vs. Gus Lesnevich at the Yankee Stadium Sept. 22, according to the New York Daily Mirror. The Mirror said it learned that Mike Jacobs, Twentieth Century Sporting Club promoter, is laying the groundwork for the bout to combat the growing competition from a rival promoter, who is planning a tournament of champions.

"Well, boys, it wasn't like this the last time you sailed," Coach Ky Ebright, of the University of California crew, remarked to his tall athletes, mostly former GI's, after a photographer had snapped their picture on board the America before that vessel sailed for the Olympics in London.

Allen Morris and Oscar Mullis, a couple of Atlanta junior tennis sharpshooters, are rated sixth and 14th, respectively, in a list of eligibles for national championships announced by the Southern Lawn Tennis Association. This is considered a pre-season ranking of players.

Hughson Ready

Tex Hughson, Boston Red Sox righthander who dropped out of the big leagues because of a sore arm and retired to the Austin, Texas, Big State League club to allow the arm to come around to form, has rejoined the Red Sox, after giving assurance that he was ready for immediate service.

Claud Passeau, former Chicago Cub pitcher, joined the Class D Centralia baseball team as pitcher-manager. Passeau, 39, has been a roving coach for Cub farms.

Jack Graham, San Diego long-range bomber, needs only 19 more homers in 81 games to tie Tony Lazzeri's Coast League record of 60. He smacked his 41st round-tripper Wednesday night. If he maintains his present pace, he will rack up 71 for the season.

Gil Dodds, gimpy leg and all, appears almost sure to make the trip to the Olympics anyhow, but only as a spectator with his wife. The VFW of Boston started a drive to raise funds to send Dodds to London and it is progressing so well that it appears the necessary $2,000 will be obtained without any trouble.

Vols Clip Crackers In 2d, 5-3

By F. M. WILIAMS.
Constitution Sports Writer

SULPHUR DELL, NASHVILLE, Tenn., July 15—Charlie Workman poled his thirty-first homer of the season with Charlie Gilbert and Elwood Grantham aboard to climax a four-run third inning uprising against Norman Brown here tonight as the league-leading Nashville Vols trimmed the Atlanta Crackers, 5-3, to even the series at one game each.

It was Brown's seventh setback against 12 victories, and although the Atlanta ace was clubbed for 12 hits he had enough to win except for the big third explosion.

Pitcher Art Cuccurullo and Buster Boguskie started the third inning fireworks with singles and Cuccurullo moved to third as Charley Gilbert forced Boguskie at second. The fourth pitch was wild as Elwood Grantham walked and Cuccurullo sprinted home. That set the stage for Workman's game-deciding blast.

The Crackers combed Cuccurullo who annexed his eighth triumph, for two runs in the second. Charlie Glock walked and when Fred Chapman dumped a single to center, Gilbert threw wild to third past Ted Cieslak and Cuccurullo with Glock scoring. Chapman advanced to third on the play and counted on N. Brown's single.

After the second, the Nashville portsider baffled the Crackers until the ninth.

Gene Verble, batting for Norman Brown, singled in the final frame, advanced to second on an infield out and raced home on Ernie Logan's line single to right.

Meanwhile, Brown returned to form and allowed the Vols only one more run. Successive doubles by Smoky Burgess and George Byam turned the trick in the sixth.

The Crackers rapped Cuccurullo for 10 safeties, but failed to connect in the clutches, leaving 10 runners stranded.

Manager Ki Ki Cuyler has nominated Carl Lindquist for the series final tonight, while Larry Gilbert will counter with Pete Mallory in the rubber game.

Fred Chapman and Manager Ki Ki Cuyler argued long and loud with Umpire Jim Tongate in the fourth inning, claiming that Vol Catcher Smokey Burgess had interfered with Chapman, Tongate said no and stuck by his decision.

Chet Hajduck made a great play to retire Charley Gilbert in the seventh, taking Gilbert's hard hit grounder just inside the line behind the bag and outrunning the Vol outfielder to the base.

Just to show how losing streaks affect the Vols, only 1,984 came out for Wednesday's game, smallest of the season. Though no announcement was made about last night's attendance, it was estimated that it was even lower.

President Charley Hurth, of the Southern League, has already checked into Nashville to prepare for the All-Star game Tuesday.

Writers were in a panic in the press box after the game. Something happened to the lights, leaving reporters in complete darkness, with deadlines to make.

Sain Beats Cubs; Bosox Cop Pair

By the Associated Press

The Boston Braves extended their winning streak to five straight by defeating the Chicago Cubs, 2 to 1, in the opener of a twin bill at Chicago yesterday and then had to settle f a stalemate when the nightcap was halted by darkness with the score tied, 1-1 after 13 innings. Johnny Sain scattered seven hits to cop his twelfth victory in the opener.

The hitting streak of Alvin Dark, Boston's rookie shortstop, was stopped at 23 games. Dark went hitless in the first game in four official trips.

Del Ennis' thirteenth home run with Raiph Caballero on base provided Dutch Leonard the margin he needed to beat the Cardinals at St. Louis, 3-1. It was the Redbirds' sixth defeat in seven games and snapped a 7-game losing streak for the Philadelphia Phils.

Ed Fitzgerland's triple followed by Stan Rojek's single with two out in the last of the ninth inning gave the Pirates a 4-3 edge over the staggering New York Giants in the first game of a doubleheader at Pittsburgh. A homer by Walker Cooper tied the score in the top of the ninth, after home runs by Frank Gustine and Ralph Kiner had given the Pirates the lead in the eighth.

New York came back to win the nightcap, 10-3, as Ray Poat copped his ninth decision as Johnny Mize belted his nineteenth homer with two aboard in the fourth.

Rex Barney, Brooklyn right-hander, pitched a five-hitter as the Dodgers defeated Cincinnati, 5-3, for their fifth win without loss this season on the Reds' diamond.

Lefty Mel Parnell knocked in two runs with a double while pitching the Red Sox to a 3-1 win over the Detroit Tigers in the floodlighted half of a day-night doubleheader before a 33,892 crowd at Boston. A 14,403 throng saw the Sockers trounce the Tigers, 13-5, in the sunlight, as Jack Kramer hurled his tenth victory and Bobby Doerr bashed his sixteenth homer, his seventh this month. The win was Kramer's eighth in a row.

Ageless Leroy (Satchel) Paige scored his first major league victory as the league-leading Cleveland Indians swept a double header from the Philadelphia Athletics 6-1 and 8-5 at Philadelphia. Ken Keltner's twenty-first home run in the eighth inning broke a 5-5 tie in the second game and enabled Cleveland to increase its first place margin to two and one-half games. Hank Edwards' third homer highlighted Cleveland's extra-base barrage in the first game.

A standing room crowd of 37,684 saw the Negro hurler, who has been pitching since most of the present-day fans were in knee pants, relieved Bob Lemon in the sixth inning and limit the A's to three hits.

Ray Scarborough scattered seven hits to give the Washington Senators a 4-1 victory over the Chicago White Sox at Washington. It was Scarborough's first win in five weeks and his sixth of the year against five defeats.

The Yankees pounded Fred Sanford for 11 hits, including triples by Cliff Mapes and George McQuinn, as they beat the St. Louis Browns at New York, 4-2. Whitey Platt homered with one aboard in the firth inning for the St. Louis runs.

Faulk and Page Beaten in Dixie

NASHVILLE, Tenn., July 15—(AP)—Medalist Margaret Gunther, of Memphis, advanced to the semifinals of the Southern Women's golf tournament today by spilling Mary Lena Faulk, Georgia State champion from Thomasville, 5 and 3.

Other championship matches saw a state champion and a Curtis Cupper advance, while Mrs. Estelle Lawson Page, Curtis cup veteran and former Southern champion, was eliminated by a comparative unknown.

Miss Gunther, who has won the Tennessee State title four times, took a three-up advantage over her opponent on the first nine holes. Miss Faulk, three-time winner of the Georgia title, halved the first hole with a par 5 but was unable to pull ahead throughout the match.

Mrs. E. S. Blanton, of Enid, Okla., celebrated her birthday by eliminating Mrs. Page 1-up with a birdie on the 18th hole. Mrs. Blanton had agreed to enter the tourney at the invitation of Mrs. Page, a long-time friend.

Bopie Whitaker, Florida State Champion from Winter Haven, advanced by eliminating Texas Champion Mrs. Bettye Mims White, Dallas, 4 and 3.

Polly Riley, Curtis Cup star from Fort Worth, Texas, defeated former Florida Champion Mrs. George Wilcox, Jr., Miami, 3 and 2.

In a championship consolation match, Mrs. Grady McDonald, Atlanta, beat Mrs. Mark McGarry, of St. Petersburg, 3 and 1.

'BENEFIT' SLATED FOR BING CROSBY BY ROUND TABLE

SPOKANE, July 15.—(AP)—The Spokane Athletic Roundtable isn't happy unless it's doing something for — or — to someone.

This time it's Bing Crosby, the favorite hometown son. They're going to hold a "benefit" for Bing.

Round-table Secretary Bud Ward, former National Amateur Golf Champion, said today the organization's annual golf tournament will be held as a "Bing Crosby Benefit."

Why? They're sorry for him "because he's having trouble earning another million dollars."

The tourney—a 72-hole affair known as "The Esmeralda"—will be played Aug. 19, 20, 21, with $2,500 in prize money offered.

Key, Inman To Play for Junior Title

COLUMBUS, July 15—(AP)—Billy Key, of Columbus, and Walker Inman, Jr., of Augusta, 1947 finalists in the Georgia junior tourney, will battle it out again tomorrow in the 36-hole final over the 6,527-yard Country Club layout.

Key closed out Mickie Gallagher, Jr., of Augusta today, 2 up to reach the final and Inman beat Griffin Moody, of Athens, 6 and 5.

The 17-year-old Columbus golfing mite defeated Inman in the finals last year, 3 and 2. Then the payoff round was over the 18-hole distance. Both agreed today to the 36-hole stretch for the championship.

Two of the pre-tourney favorites fell by the wayside this morning. Atlanta's Johnny Morris was eliminated by Griggin Moody, 1 up, and Griffin's Pete Ferris was beaten by Mickie Gallagher, 2 and 1.

Skating Record

CLEVELAND, July 15—(AP)—Phyllis Markley, of Dayton, Ohio, set a new record time of 49.7 seconds in the 440-yard juvenile B girls speed event at the eleventh annual National Amateur Roller Skating Championships at the Rollercade today.

Tony Zale And Cerdan To Clash

NEW YORK, July 15—(AP)—Middleweight Tony Zale agreed today to defend his title against Marcel Cerdan of France, the European titleholder, "sometime in September." Promoter Andy Niederreiter of the Tournament of Champions, Inc., said the exact date and site will be announced later. Brooklyn, Jersey City and Chicago are the possibilities.

Sam Pian and Art Winch, Zale's co-managers, signed for 40 percent of the gate. Cerdan, who came to terms after Saturday's win over Cyrille Delannoit at Brussels, will receive 17½ percent.

Neiderreiter listed Ebbets Field, Roosevelt Stadium in Jersey City or Comiskey Park in Chicago as potential sites. He said Irving Kovin of Chicago had offered to underwrite the bout.

Under the terms of the contract, Cerdan must give Zale a return match if he lifts the crown o fthe 34-year-old veteran.

JOE DEY LOOKS OVER NORTH FULTON—USGA's Joe Dey, of New York, who serves as executive secretary of the organization, arrived yesterday to take charge of the 1948 National Publinx golf tournament at North Fulton. After a few preliminary meetings with local officials he toured the course in company with North Fulton's professional, Albert Jones, right, and pronounced the course in excellent condition. The tournament starts Saturday with the 18-hole team championship. The golfer putting at right is Jack Gargan, a movie actor who is a member of the Los Angeles team.

Albuquerque Team's Withdrawal Places Kile in Third Round

By BERT PRATHER

Individual matches in the National Publinx Tournament don't start until Monday, but James E. "Chub" Kile, of the Atlanta team, advanced to the third round yesterday.

Kile drew a bye in the first round pairings and when the Albuquerque, N. M., team withdrew from the meet, he moved into the third round. Kyle was scheduled to play Walter Garcia of the New Mexico team in the second round.

Entries in the Publinx event were pouring into town and a large number of the contestants put in practice licks at the North Fulton course yesterday.

Percy Taylor and Leonard Egbert, of the Los Angeles Fox Hills Country Club, posted a 72 and 73, respectively, to take low honors for the day in the warm-up rounds.

Ironically, these two California boys came all the way to Atlanta to play each other. The pairings made them opponents in the opening round of the individual tourney Monday.

Will Crossley, defending champion formerly of Atlanta, is scheduled to check in from New York at the local airport today.

Joe Dey, Executive Secretary of the USGA, arrived yesterday.

Jack Gargan, movie actor who plays supporting roles, was among the entries checking in yesterday.

NOTES: Los Angeles' delegation, headed by Harry Packham, USGA publinx committeeman for Southern California, is picked as the squadron to watch in the tournament. . . . Harry has several capable boys and believes they may take the team trophy back home. . . . The L. A. boys are inviting one and all out there to next year's National, promising plenty of sunshine, etc. . . . Present plans call for the meet to be staged at the Rancho Club, now under construction. . . Officials hope to dedicate the club by staging the National Tournament there. . . .

J. C. Cunningham, Vice President of the Southern California Publinx Association, also is here. . . . Maury Luxford, Los Angeles Parks Commissioner, is due today. . . .

Uncle Joe Dickson, of Louisville, Ky., one of the most beloved figures in publinx gold, was around greeting his host of friends and telling a few of his choice jokes. . . . Uncle Joe is Kentucky's USGA publinx committeeman. . . His chief threat is Police Lieutenant Cliff Leonhardt, who qualified with 143. . . Superior Court Judge John Niblack, of Indianapolis, a veteran publinx committeeman, is another good story teller. . . .

When Uncle Joe and John get in a huddle with Atlanta's George Clayton, there is always a big audience.

One of the best looking entrants is husky Robert Lyons, a baseballer and golfer from Washington State College . . . Robert represents Spokane. . . .Colonel Lee Read, official scorer, spent the entire day yesterday setting up his score sheets. . . . They will be perfect when he finishes, you can bet . . . Most of the arrivals have picked No. 9 as the toughest hole on the course. . . .Charlie T. Barnes, Chub Kile and Paul Mullins, of the Atlanta squad, went around yesterday but said they did not score too well. . . .Barnes, picked as Atlanta's stop man, will team with Kile and James Stamps in Saturday's team play. . . .Kile is likely to be handicapped considerably unless the course dries out . . . he is not a long knocker and has probably the shortest back swing of any golfer entered. . . .He is death around the greens, though. . . . Charlie Ozmer, who probably knows every blade of grass at North Fulton, may be a starter after all. . . .Jim Davey, a qualifier, is reported to be in California and may not get back for the tournament. . . .Charlie would move into his place as first alternate.

Among wives of contestants brightening up the North Fulton scene are Mrs. Tom Kennedy, of San Francisco, and Mrs. Chuck Hess, of Indianapolis . . . Officials moved into the new clubhouse yesterday and were lavish in their praise of the layout despite the fact some of the finishing touches are missing.

Don Floyd Advances In Mid-Dixie Meet

SPARTANBURG, S. C., July 15—(AP)—Top-seeded Sam Daniels, Columbia, moved into the singles semi-finals of the 16th annual Mid-Dixie tennis tournament here today at the Country Club Courts by trouncing fifth-ranked Ted Keesler, Charlotte, N. C., 6-2, 6-4.

Other favorites advanced into the semi-finals with Don Floyd, Atlanta, Ga., eliminating sixth-seeded Mike Williams, North Wilkesboro, N. C., 6-4 0-6, 6-3. Floyd is second in the ratings.

Softball Sensation Hurls Here Tonight

Herb Dudley, unscored on in 11 games this year and rated by many as the nation's best softball hurler, will appear here tonight when his Clearwater (Fla.) Bombers take on the Bailey Supreme nine in a double-header starting at 7:30 o'clock at Sports Arena Field.

The Bombers, who were semi-finalists in the National tournament at Lakewood, Ohio, in 1947, have many other stars besides Dudley as is evidenced by the fact they have been unscored on in 28 of their last 32 games.

Gerald Overcash, a sensation here as far back as 1935 when he pitched St. Petersburg to the Southeastern championship, probably will hurl tonight's opener with Dudley slated to fling the nightcap. Bailey Manager Johnny Moon plans to use Homer Carter and Sambo Elliott in that order in the two tilts.

The Bombers from Florida's west coast, will move over to the Capitol Homes diamond tomorrow night where they will take on Leon Jones' Capitol Homes club, 1947 Georgia State champs.

Dudley didn't allow a Bailey runner to first base in a game in Clearwater on July 3 of this year.

Jittery Wall Street Puts Stock Prices on Toboggan

NEW YORK, July 15—(AP)—Stock prices went spinning downward today in one of the year's steepest declines when heavy last-minute selling lashed the market. The market had dozed along at slightly lower levels during most of the day and the sudden rush to unload caught the financial district by surprise.

Not since Feb. 10, when commodity prices were tumbling, has it taken such a walloping. Wall Street quarters attributed the decline to two factors:

First, the Russian reply to the three-power note on the blockade of Berlin; and Second, the President's call for a special session of the Congress.

The abrupt expansion in selling was told by a few statistics. In the last hour alone 690,000 shares of stock changed hands, compared with the day's total of 1,620,000. The day's total was the largest in about three weeks. Turnover yesterday amounted to 1,340,000 shares.

In the last half hour of trading the high-speed ticker tape couldn't keep up with reports from the floor of the exchange. The lag totaled as much as two minutes at one time.

Some prime favorites went tumbling under the selling onslaught. U. S. Steel lost 2¾ at 80⅝. Nickel Plate dropped 4 to 88. Superior Oil of California 9 at 318. Atlantic Coast Line 2 at 80. Goodrich Tire 1⅝ at 61½. Chrysler 1⅝ at 62⅜. American Smelting 1⅞ at 62⅝. Richfield Oil 1⅞ at 43. Radio Corporation ¾ at 13¼. Southern Pacific 2⅝ at 59⅝.

Steels, rails, autos and oils were the most sensitive to the selling, just as they have been the most responsive to recent buying.

One of the few issues to emerge with a plus sign was Curtiss-Wright common, which closed ¼ higher at 10⅝ after reaching a new high for the year during the day.

The aircraft stock was a trouble spot for awhile, as it was yesterday when trading was twice suspended because of a huge influx of buying orders. Buying was based on news directors had voted two dividends of $1 each.

The stocks opened more than an hour after the trading bell sounded on a block of 70,000 shares and a gain of ¾ of a point at 11⅛. Turnover was unusually large for the day.

In the curb Cities Service cracked 3½ points and Pantepec Oil an even point. Fractionally off were Barium Steel, Electric Bond & Share, Niagara Hudson Power, and Arkansas Natural Gas "A." Rome Cable gained a fraction. Turnover of 390,000 shares compared with 290,000 Wednesday.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks dropped 1.3 points to 71. This carried the general level of the market back to where it was at the end of June. Of the 1,067 issues which appeared on the tape, 785 declined while only 141 advanced.

Railroad loans turned irregular in the bond market today with most price changes narrow. Trading was light as the roads awaited an Interstate Commerce Commission decision on their applications for a freight rate increase, expected momentarily for the past couple of days.

Representatives of several roads were reported already in Washington prepared to file new tariffs in the event the ICC approves a rate hike.

The slight activity in the market was fairly well restricted to railroad bonds. U. S. Government bonds and the foreign dollar list were quiet.

State Aspirants Line Up For Legislative Races

By GEORGE VANCE

While State politics and the Talmadge-Thompson gubernatorial race continue to hold the spotlight in Georgia, political observers in both town and country are wondering who will be nominated to the General Assembly in the Sept. 8 primary.

Races for both State Senate and House of Representatives will have a definite bearing on what happens next year in State government, observers say, because of the two-Governor battle last year.

Most qualifying deadlines in Georgia counties were passed during the past two weeks, and the candidates are campaigning "to come to Atlanta and serve my county to the best of my ability."

State Assembly race reports to The Constitution's State News Desk follow:

APPLING COUNTY: Five candidates for representative: Dr. J. T. Holt, Col. R. D. Welch, T. Malcolm Tillman, J. G. Purcell and H. B. Stone.

CHATTOOGA COUNTY: Rep. H. Grady Ramey, of Summerville, is in a three-man race with 21-year-old Bobby Cook, of Cloudland, and 23-year-old James Floyd, of Pennville.

CARROLL COUNTY: Glenn Hogan, Jr., Ebb Duncan and A. W. Alexander are running for the two representative posts. Willis Smith and Herschel Reid are running for the Thirty-seventh District Senate seat.

COBB COUNTY: Five men campaigning for two seats in House of Representatives: Rep. Harold S. Willingham and Hi Mozley, Marietta attorneys, and Raymond Reed, Hoot Gibson and Jim Manning, all of Smyrna.

EARLY COUNTY: Rep. Wilton B. Boswick, Mayor of Arlington, is opposed by Leon H. Baughman, County Commissioner for 12 years, and William A. Cox, Arlington businessman and Chairman of the County Democratic Executive Committe. Cox is making his first bid in politics.

GWINNETT COUNTY: Rhodes Jordan, incumbent representative, is running for one seat, and R. F. Duncan and Austin White are fighting for the seat of Rep. E. O. Dobbs.

HARRIS COUNTY: Rep. Zade Kenimer, of Waverly Hall, is running against Durand Sivill, Chipley businessman; and Hadley Huling, of the Walnut Grove community, for State Representative. Harris County also will select the Senator for the district (Harris, Talbot and Meriwether Counties) from among three candidates: Gerald B. Saunders, former Harris representative; M. J. Sullivan, Chipley banker; and Fred New, lawyer, of Pine Mountain Valley.

HOSTON COUNTY: J. W. Bloodworth, Perry merchant-lawyer and present Representative, is opposed by Hubert A. Aultman, young Perry attorney who is a graduate of Mercer University and a former resident of Byron.

LANIER COUNTY: R. L. Patten, II, who served on E. D. Rivers' staff in the last campaign and who is campaigning for Thompson this year, is running against Rep. John W. Greer, who is seeking his fourth term.

LOWNDES COUNTY: Four candidates are in the representative's race: Ed Mathis, incumbent Representative and Mayor of Valdosta; Troy Register, Valdosta businessman; and John W. Langdale and J. T. Edwards, Valdosta attorneys.

MACON COUNTY: Rep. T. L. Coogle, Oglethorpe planter and businessman, is unopposed. There are five candidates in the District Senatorial race: Sidney Moore, of Montezuma; C. C. Walker, Marshallville; F. L. Raburn, Ideal; D. Highsmith, of Montezuma, and Carl Ayers, Oglethorpe. The District includes Macon, Schley and Sumter Counties.

MADISON COUNTY: Two candidates are in the 30th District Senatorial race: Garland B. Cook, World War veteran, of Ila, and John Knox Gholston, of Comer.

POLK COUNTY: Willard Drew, Cedartown druggist, defeated candidate for Representative in the Spring county primary, will run in the September race against the victor, Rep. Roy Adams, Cedartown businessman, and Rep. Paul Hurt, Rockmart businessman. Their Spring race was invalidated.

PULASKI COUNTY: Rep. D. C. Chalker, Hawkinsville attorney, will be opposed by John W. Lee, Hawkinsville cotton merchant. Jimmy Dykes, present Bleckley County Representative and a Talmadge floor leader during the two-Governor battle, has indicated he would run for the 14th District Senatorial seat. This district comprises Dooly, Pulaski and Bleckley counties.

STEWART COUNTY: Rep. Byron C. Anglin, of Lumpkin, is opposed by W. J. Dowd, an educator, and J. M. Deason, who was Stewart Representative in 1927-1928.

TELFAIR COUNTY: J. C. Walker, oil company distributor of McRae, and DeLacy Webb, farm operator, are in the Representative race. Walker is a brother of W. H. Walker, present Senator from the 45th district.

THOMAS COUNTY: Five candidates are campaigning for two House posts: O. S. Willis, Walter U. Scott, R. E. Chastain, Charles McKinnon and Benson B. Earle. W. B. Cochran is unopposed in the Senate race.

TOOMBS COUNTY: Steve Hall, Lyons attorney and farm operator, and Rufus, Lyons cotton gin operator and farm owner, are in the Representative race.

TREUTLEN COUNTY: The Representatives' campaign has landed in court. H. G. Henry, who was defeated in a November primary by Hugh Gillis, brought mandamus action against James L. Gillis, Sr., Chairman of the County Executive Committee, and Leon Phillips in a move to compel the Committee to accept his entrance fee in the September race. Judge Echols Graham, of the Oconee Circuit, has ordered attorneys for both sides to file briefs this Saturday.

WASHINGTON COUNTY: Four aspirants are in the race for two Representative seats. Rep. W. C. McMillan, of Sandersville, is opposed by Luke Warren, of Tennille; and Rep Lonnie Moye, of Davisboro, is opposed by B. J. Tarbutton, of Sandersville, who was 20th District Senator last year.

WHITE COUNTY: Rep. Guy C. Dorsey and Sen. Major Dorsey have qualified for the Representative's race. Rep. Dorsey has served two terms in the House; and Sen. Dorsey has served one term in the Senate.

WILCOX COUNTY: Dr. J. F. Witherington, of Pineview, incumment Representative, has qualified. Qualifying deadline is July 24.

WILKINSON COUNTY: Alexander S. Boone, Sr., Editor of the Wilkinson County News, is running against Guy Lord, of Gordon, for Representative, Rep. Lee W. Pennington, of Gordon, withdrew from the race in favor of the Irwinton Editor, who is a well known Talmadge supporter.

GREENSBURG, Pa., July 15—(AP)—Five persons, including three small children, perished today in flames which destroyed a two-family house at Salemville, eight miles from this Southwestern Pennsylvania city.

Dead were Mille Fedornock, 23; Rose Mozzoni, 17; Charles Fedornock, Jr., 6; Florence Boland, and Ronnie Fedornock, 3.

Truman Gets Bid To Speak In Atlanta

President Truman was invited yesterday to speak to Atlanta civic clubs here any time between now and the November general election that would suit him.

John Sammons Bell, Chairman of the Atlanta Lions' Club Program Committee, said he had extended the invitation by letter, pointing out that an appearance in the South might be beneficial to the President and Atlanta would be an appropriate place for him to speak.

A member of the President's staff, Bell said, told Bell by phone he thought Mr. Truman's appearance here was "a good idea," and would talk with the President about it.

Bell said if Mr. Truman accepts, an invitation also would be extended to Republican presidential candidate Thomas E. Dewey. All Atlanta civic clubs would be invited to hear Mr. Truman and Mr. Dewey speak, Bell said.

centralization of Federal power and fear the steady increase of it in the past several years. There is much to be said for it. And it can be said with dignity and honor.

But what we had here as the loudest voice of the South were the wild and reckless and usually ridiculous statements by the Mississippians and some from Alabama, South Carolina and Louisiana. They made no sense. The Convention crowds laughed at them. They were often so preposterous as to embarrass even their own members. They hurt the South.

Georgia did a fine job. Charlie Bloch cannot be too highly praised for the dignified and eloquent manner in which he handled the Georgia protest support of Senator Richard B. Russell. Chairman James Peters handled the delegation well and Georgia did not disgrace or hurt the South. It is to be hoped that Georgia will stay out of the Birmingham meeting. If the State does decide to participate in the group planning to withhold the electoral votes, that is a matter for the State to decide. There is no value in attending any of the self-promotional ventures by other States such as Arkansas and Mississippi staged here, only to crawl at the last moment after they had squeezed all publicity possible out of it.

If the Democrats should emerge with a slight victory withholding of electoral votes, however unethical it may be, would be effective.

What is important for the South to realize is that they really did have rammed down their throats the planks to which they objected It was done deliberately and after due consideration by the Eastern, Western and Middle Western Party leaders who determined to their own satisfaction at least their only chance of victory lay in putting such a program into effect.

POLITICS

rustle up was uncertain, because some of the South wasn't quite sore enough to get out of the Party.

Russell said at Winder, Ga., he would have no part of the meeting. Gov. Ben Laney, of Arkansas, who withdrew as a States' Rights candidate at the convention here, said he hadn't made up his mind about Birmingham.

Laney quit because he said he couldn't stand on that civil-rights plank in the platform.

Virginia delegates were undecided, too, about keeping the new civil war going. Louisianans were just as irate as any in the South but made no plans to go to Birmingham because they figured they ought to have more time to think things over.

Nobody turned up to represent Mississippi at a meeting of the Democratic National Committee today. Gov. J. Strom Thurmond of South Carolina likewise stayed away.

A main purpose of the meeting was to re-elect Sen. J. Howard McGrath, of Rhode Island, National Chairman. This was done, without opposition.

The way Russell sized up the special session of Congress, Northern Democrats and the Republicans will "fight to see who can kick the South the hardest" with civil rights legislation.

He said Mr. Truman's call to Congress is "a desperate move" to "rivet national attention on what he has picked as the national issues in the 1948 campaign."

Republicans, too, almost unanimously said there were political motives behind the move.

Political or not, supporters of Mr. Truman said it was a wise move. Former Sec. of Agriculture Clinton P. Anderson said Mr. Truman put the Republicans on the spot. He added it up this way:

"If they don't do anything about the special session program, he's got them. If they do, the credit will be his."

Besides civil rights, Mr. Truman said in his acceptance speech he would ask Congress to get busy on such items as help for schools, improving the nation's health, enlarging the social security program, and a boost in the 40-cents-an-hour minimum wage."

He said the special session will determine whether the GOP "can fool the people with such poppycock" as he said he found in their platform.

Loudly and confidently he told the hundreds of delegates and thousands of spectators who stuck it out until the convention quit:

"Sen. Barkley and I will win this election and make these Republicans like it."

Barkley told a reporter he plans to keep his Senate seat while campaigning. His present term lasts until 1951. He said he was going back to Washington and then home to Paducah, Ky., for a week or so of rest.

Charge Atlantan Cashed $1,500 in Worthless Checks

Atlanta detectives are holding Hugh D. Cobb, 33-year-old manufacturing plant clerk, on charges that he cashed more than $1,500 in worthless checks in a single department store.

Dets. R. H. Corley and T. J. Milligan, who arrested Cobb yesterday in an automobile plant at Doraville where he is employed, said it was too early to determine if he had defrauded other stores.

During December and January, Corley and Milligan related, Cobb cashed five checks totaling $450 at a department store. They said he used for identification a charg-a-plate issued to Mrs. H. W. Genone which had been reported lost or stolen.

After the checks had been turned down at the bank, the officers said, Cobb apparently switched methods. He is charged with writing seven checks since May 8 in amounts ranging from $100 to $250 and forging an okay from one of the store officials.

When they reached the Doraville plant yesterday, detectives said, Cobb was already being questioned by plant police about being absent from work Tuesday. They said the Atlanta store cashed a check Tuesday for $125.

In leaving the plant, detectives continued, Cobb attempted to discard a check book. They said the book contained three checks, one of which already had been filled out for $125 and signed "H. J. Johnson," the same man that had appeared on several other worthless checks cashed here.

The book seized with Cobb contained the stubs of more than a dozen checks other than those cashed at the department store, Corley and Milligan said. They expressed belief other stores in Atlanta may have suffered equally heavy losses.

Vacation Trip Wardrobe Gone

She needed just one more dress to round out her clothing list for a vacation trip, Miss Marjorie Crowe, of 464 Windsor St., S. W., told police.

So she went to a downtown department store, put down suitcase and was busy trying on dresses.

Then she noticed her packed suitcase containing an assortment of dresses, slacks, hose, underthings and the like, had disappeared.

Miss Crowe reported the loss to police, hastily selected a new wardrobe and hurried to catch her train.

Conley Group Meets Blood Bank Call

Fifty-four students at the Ordnance Automotive School, Atlanta General Depot, mobilized to meet an emergency call for blood at Lawson Veterans' Administration Hospital "with miraculous speed."

That's the accolade of Atlanta Red Cross Chapter officials. Red Cross spokesmen explained an emergency call came in Wednesday from Lawson "an hour before the Blood Bank's closing time."

Red Cross workers and T. B. Roper, Administrative Assistant at the Conley Depot, got together on a speedy recruiting program. The result: Atlanta's Mobile Red Cross Blood Bank set up equipment at Conley yesterday and between the hours of 10 a. m. and noon obtained the 54 pints of blood needed at Lawson.

UNDER THE DOME

VOTERS—County registrars can disqualify any voter who lives in one county and votes in another, according to an unofficial opinion made yesterday by Atty. Gen. Eugene Cook. Cook wrote Gerald H. Leonard, Tax Commissioner of Murray County, that any voter disqualified by registrars must be given a chance to appear before the registrars to argue his case. For sufficient reason, however, registrars can require a voter to requalify and take the voter's oath that he has lived in the State one year "and in this county for six months immediately preceding the date of this oath."

KNOW-HOW—Secretary of State Ben W. Fortson, Jr., spoke on duties of his office to members of the Legislative Committee of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen. The Committee met at the Piedmont Hotel to study the State's legislative processes.

INSURANCE—State Insurance Commissioner Zack D. Cravey called a meeting of State Insurance Commissioners of eight Southeastern States to discuss mutual problems in Birmingham Sept. 29-30. Cravey is Zone Three Chairman of the National Association of State Insurance Commissioners.

SHIP AHOY—The Brunswick Chamber of Commerce and the Brunswick Ports Authority by contract have exclusive privilege to dock commercial vessels at the boat landings at Jekyll Island State Park, Atty. Gen. Eugene Cook ruled. The decision does not affect casual pleasure craft, however.

Women Delegates Happy With Harry

By DORIS LOCKERMAN,
Women's News Editor

Unlike their menfolks, the women Democrats have been chins-up all along, but Thursday in Philadelphia they were exuberant with hope, though haggard from fatigue.

Harry Truman, their man, had made a fighting acceptance speech for the presidential nomination, tearing into housing snarls and high prices, and taking the roof off when he snapped up the dare of the Republicans and announced he would call the Eightieth Congress back into session to make good its promises to the American public.

"Everybody is delighted," said Mrs. M. Boydston Satterfield, Atlanta's equable Democratic dynamo, who has been in Philadelphia as an instructor in the Women's Division Campaign School. "Women that wen to bed as late as 5 this morning are back at work now, struggling with organization details."

Mrs. Satterfield, whose articulate understanding of political machinery dates from a long interest in good government, was Director of Research for the Women's Division during the 1944 campaign. Her husband, now area Director of the Federal Public Housing Authority stationed here, was then assigned to Washington and she had ample opportunity to offer her services.

This time, as a friend of India Moffett Edwards, she was called back to help shape the campaign school, set up to give actual instruction to women who have not known how to marshal their forces most effectively. Her particular concern has been techniques for encouraging registration.

The campaign school, Mrs. Satterfield said, has been televised and broadcast.

"And the New Look here is a ghastly one," she said. "It is something of a shock to glance into a mirror and see yourself with eyebrows thick enough for a Frankenstein and your mouth a blob of brown lipstick."

Nevertheless, men politicians have liked the look of their women associates, enough to agree that three speeches electrified the convention and set it on a forward course . . . Helen Gahagan Douglas' opener, Jimmy Roosevelt's appearance, and President Truman's words himself.

Mrs. Douglas, who was given doubtful treatment as far as timing was concerned, was not heard over the big radio networks, because her address came too late in the night, but Mrs. Satterfield said it was tremendously effective.

"She was given the first real ovation, aside from Sen. Barkley."

And, incidentally, Mrs. Satterfield says the women like Sen. Barkley for the vice presidency. They approve the progressive role he played in Washington for many a year.

Miss Vines Wed To Mr. Motes

The marriage of Miss Barbara Vines and Curtis Motes took place recently at the Peachtree Christian Church. Dr. Robert W. Burns officiated. Mrs. Jane Butterfield was organist and Miss Patricia Speigner, soloist.

The bride, the daughter of Mrs. Cleo Knight Vines and the late Charles Lawrence Vines, was given in marriage by her brother, Charles L. Vines, Jr. She wore an off-white suit with navy accessories and carried a prayer book showered with valley lilies and topped with a white orchid.

Miss Betty Hall, the bride's cousin and only attendant, was gowned in a pastel pink with navy accesories and carried a nosegay of garden flowers. The groom, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Motes, had as his best man his brother, B. H. Motes. Ushers included Ray H. Hall, Richard V. Hall, William L. Waites and W. E. Lee.

The bride's mother entertained at a reception at her home. The bride's book was kept by Mrs. William L. Waites.

The couple left for a wedding trip, and for traveling Mrs. Motes wore a navy suit with matching accesories and an orchid.

News on the Fraternity Front

By BETSY HOPKINS

Despite the fact that Atlanta has been resembling a Class B reproduction of "The Rains Came" and the Greeks have been navigating fraternity row with canoes instead of cars, the wet weather has failed to dampen the optimism of the Tech and Emory boys who have planned a round of festivities for the week-end, including a swimming party and a baseball game.

On the Tech front, the Delta Tau Deltas are planning a dance for tomorrow night with music furnished by Tommy Dorsey and Harry James, a la juke box.

Tomorrow afternoon at 2, the Sigma Nus will play the Lambda Chi Alphas at baseball, weather permitting, and Thursday evening at 7, the Sigma Nus will entertain at an alumnae banquet at the frat house, where such fraternity notables as "Chip" Robert and William Bradley, Georgia advisor, will be honored.

The Emory Chi Phis will celebrate "Blue Jaw" day tomorrow night at the frat house with an informal get-to-gether. The brothers will gather before a worn pair of bedroom slippers, the "Blue Jaw" shrine, to pay silent homage and to sing a few songs.

A comic strip party has been scheduled for tomorrow night at 8 by the Phi Delts. The house will swarm with "Blondies," "Dagwoods" and "Lil Abners," as brothers and their dates come dressed as comic strip characters.

The optimistic "Pikes" have planned a swimming party tomorrow afternoon at 3:30. Brothers, rushees and their dates will gather at the house and go from there to the Avondale Community Pool, where they will swim, dance and eat. Incidentally, the boys are making the sandwiches, which can mean anything. Newcomers to the ranks of the Pikes, initiated recently, are James G. Moore, of Daytona Beach; Reynolds Davis, Acworth; James L. Parker, Cedartown, and Carlos Meyer.

Spotlighted on the Emory front this weekend is the sport dance in the cafeteria to be held tomorrow night at 8:30. Sponsored by the Emory Independents Students Association, the Student Activities Council, the Emory Christian Association and the Interfraternity Council, the dance is open to the entire student body, and promises to be a gala affair.

Miss Bess de Mauney Marries in Rome

Mrs. Dora Henry announces the recent marriage of her sister, Miss Bess de Mauney, of Atlanta and Rome, to Phillip Lee Savage, of Cassopolis, Mich., and Rome.

The service was solemnized at the First Methodist Church in Rome with E. D. Rudisill officiating.

Richard Savage, of Cartersville, was best man and Mrs. Mary Acuff, of Atlanta, was matron of honor. A reception was held at the General Forest Hotel.

After a honeymoon trip, the couple will reside in Rome, where Mr. Savage is associated with the Savage Radio and Appliance Company.

MISS MARGARET LINK

Link-Jackson Betrothal Told

Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Link announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Margaret Helen Link, to Charles E. Jackson, Jr., of Adel and Atlanta, the marriage to take place Aug. 7 at Glenn Memorial Chapel.

The bride-elect received a diploma in secretarial science at Wesleyan Conservatory. For the past two years she has been affiliated with the Public Housing Administration.

The groom-elect is the son of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Jackson. He is attending Woodrow Wilson College of Law and is a member of Sigma Delta Kappa, law fraternity. He is associated with the United States Fidelity and Guaranty Company.

SALLY FORTH Says:

Holmes Family Departs For Residence in Moultrie

Friends of Mary Frances and Edgar Holmes and their twin sons, John and Jim, will regret to learn that they are moving to Moultrie, where Dr. Holmes will practice medicine. At the moment he is taking a refresher course at Tulane University, but will join his family the latter part of August.

In the meantime, Mary Frances, her sons, and her sister, Dorothy (Mrs. Curtis) Thurston, will leave today for Moultrie, where they will visit Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Holmes, Edgar's parents, for a few days to attend the Tobacco Festival. From there they will go to St. Simon Island to spend several weeks at the Summer home of Dr. and Mrs. J. A. Broach.

Mary Frances has enjoyed wide popularity since school days at the Seminary, and during her debut year she served as President of the Debutante Club.

A Royal Welcome for Raiford Ragsdale

A royal welcome awaits pretty Raiford Ragsdale when she arrives tomorrow from New York to spend her vacation with her parents, the Clifford Ragsdales, on Habersham Road.

To celebrate her home-coming, Mr. and Mrs. Ragsdale will entertain at a dinner party tomorrow evening at the Driving Club, their guest list including 16 members of the younger set who are Raiford's contemporaries.

For the past six months Raiford has been associated with an English publishing firm, Longmans-Greene Company, in New York. She graduated from Barnard College in 1946, and spent the following year in England, where she studied dramatics at the Royal Academy in London. Her friends sincerely hope that her traveling is over for a while and that she may be persuaded to stay in Atlanta for a spell.

Off for California Today

Plans have worked out to perfection for pretty Margie Wagar who has had a hankering all Summer to visit her Mt. Vernon Seminary classmate, Mary Evans, in Los Angeles. Now her aunt and uncle, Eunice and Van Wilkinson, are taking her on a wonderful trip out West, and they depart today.

Boarding a train, the trio goes to Banff and Lake Louise for a stop of 10 days. Then on to Portland, Ore., where they will rent an automobile for a drive through the Redwood Forests and Yosemite Valley.

Margie and the Wilkinsons will go next to Los Angeles, where the former will divide her visit between Mary Evans and Louise (Mrs. Oscar) Oldknow.

Eunice and Van will come home by way of New York, leaving their niece in California. Margie expects to enter Agnes Scott College in the Autumn.

Party To End All Parties

Eloise Lehmann, of West Point, and Claude Kent, of Gainesville, were perhaps the most thrilled couple in the world Wednesday night. Plus the excitement of their approaching marriage tomorrow evening, this twosome had another reason to be starry-eyed, for they were honored at a cocktail party and dinner-dance given by Dr. and Mrs. Hilton Wall and their father, Arthur W. Harris.

And such a party it was! It offered a thrill a minute for the young couple. First of all, at the cocktail party at the Harris home, the musicians suddenly changed the tempo of slow music to the lilting rhythm of "Roll Out the Barrel." At this moment Mr. Harris rolled in a huge barrel, believe it or not, which he presented to the surprised honor guests. The barrel was filled to overflowing with small packages containing such items as a rolling pin, children's shoe, egg beater, piggy bank, and last but not least, the best gift of all—a generous check. And, as if this weren't enough excitement, there was a floor show.

The high point of the evening came at the dinner-dance held at the Capital City Country Club, when Mr. Harris rose to toast the young couple in sparkling champagne. "I make this toast," he said, "to the girl whom I consider, outside of my three daughters, the sweetest girl in the world." Needless to say, it was a happy moment for the young couple, and a wonderful party for everyone.

Miss Feinberg Weds Mr. Hornik At Club Rites

The Progressive Club was the scene last evening of the marriage of Miss Dorothy Harriette Feinberg, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Feinberg, to Robert Hornik, son of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Hornik. Rabbi Aaron Walden, of Chattanooga, officiated, and music was presented by Harry Robkin and Alice Tomlinson.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was gowned in duchess satin. Her fingertip veil of illusion was attached to a pearl tiara and she carried a Victorian bouquet of white orchids showered with stephanotis.

Miss Nell Rosen, her sister's maid of honor, wore yellow taffeta and carried a bouquet of talisman roses and yellow daisies. Bridesmaids were Misses Ray Feinberg, Florence Shonson and Adele Smithloff. Their turquoise dresses were made like that of the maid of honor and they carried talisman roses, blue delphinium and Picardy gladioli. Miss Edrea Kessler, junior bridesmaid, wore aqua and carried pink roses and blue delphinium. Miss Phyllis Ronin, flower girl, wore pink and carried a basket of rose petals.

Martin Hornik was his brother's best man, and groomsmen were Rubin Rosen, Ben Feinberg, Elmer Litwin, of New York. Junior groomsman was Marvin Feinberg, and ushers were Raymond Reisman, Gene Somberg, Leonard Michalove and Norman Diamond. Robert Rosen was ringbearer.

The bride's parents entertained at a reception at the Progressive Club. Mrs. Feinberg received in gray with purple orchids, and the groom's mother wore an eggshell model with purple orchids.

Guests from a distance included Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Hornik, Mr. and Mrs. George Hornik, Martin Hornik, all of Miami Beach; Elmer Litwin, Martin Kreyer and Paul Englander, of New York; Mr. and Mrs. Simon Struletz, of LaGrange.

DISCOVERS RETONGA; FINDS RELIEF FROM ACID INDIGESTION

Victim of Sour Stomach, Constipation, Headaches and Sleepless Nights Happily Tells How Famous Medicine Gave Prompt Relief.

MRS. HATTIE MILAM

"I could hardly eat anything without suffering for it," declares Mrs. Hattie Milam, "until I discovered Retonga." Mrs. Milam, a native of Macon, Ga., has lived in California for the past 14 years and owns her home at 927 Indiana Ave., in Venice. She continues:

"For several years I suffered terribly from sour stomach. I could hardly eat a thing without paying a price in gas pains and bloating. Even mild foods like bread and coffee gave me heartburn. I was terribly plagued by constipation and headaches and was continually taking harsh laxatives. Sleeplessness was another thing I had to put up with. In the morning I'd get up feeling completely worn out, with no energy for anything. Life's no fun when you feel the way I did.

"The relief that Retonga brought me was just plain wonderful. Now I eat anything I want without any discomfort. My constipation and headaches have been relieved, I sleep like a top, and have worlds of pep and energy. I never dreamed one medicine could do so much for a person as Retonga did for me."

Retonga is intended to relieve distress due to insufficient flow of digestive juices in the stomach, loss of appetite, borderline Vitamin B-1 deficiency, and constipation. If the first bottle fails to give you gratifying relief, your money will be refunded. You can get Retonga at May's Drug Store, 112 Whitehall St., and May's Drug Store, 4 Broad St., N. W.

GRACE ORR, 11
New "Miss Atlanta, Jr., 1948"

It's another of Mary O'Hara's warm, humorous and entertaining stories about ranch life and horses which has been painted on a celluloid canvas of rare beauty. There is homey music by Burl Ives, the troubador of the open spaces, an exceptional story plot and touches of pathos and humor that have been carefully blended to keep the pace brisk.

A pair of beautiful horses—a mare, Jewel, and Thunderhead, the high-stepping stallion—are the central characters in the piece. The story concerns Thunderhead's mischief in upsetting a romance between the human characters in the movie.

High on the list of players are Charles Coburn, Lloyd Nolan, Peggy Cummings and Robert Arthur.

"Green Grass" is now playing at the Fox Theater.

SLIM AND SHY

Blues Singing Wins Laurels For Grace Orr

Bright-eyed Grace Orr, 101 Stone Rd., looks like any little 11-year-old girl, long-legged and slim and perhaps a little bit shyer than most.

But when she stands up in front of a microphone and lets go with "St. Louis Blues," even an amateur knows that kid's going places.

It was Grace's ringing rendition of "St. Louis Blues" that won for her the title of "Miss Atlanta Jr. of 1948" over 37 other contestants at Lakewood Park Wednesday night.

Sweet-smiling Grace isn't the only talented member of the J. R. Orr family. She and two sisters, Sarah, 16, and Molly, 18, have their own radio show over WGST every morning as gospel singers, and the whole family sings and plays the piano. In addition, the Orr Sisters trio appears weekly at Lakewood and Forest Park theaters as the only featured artists who can appear regularly and still bring down the house.

Her teacher, Jessie Reese, who started such famous stars as Janie Withers, Dixie Dunbar, and Ginger Prince on their way to fame, likes to call Grace her protege and wouldn't be at all surprised if the little Miss Atlanta Jr. would graduate to Miss Atlanta some day and then follow her famous predecessors to the big-time.

59 4-H'ers' Poll Shows 199 Teeth Need Fillings

Delegates from 4-H Clubs in 36 Georgia counties participated in a dental health poll here yesterday, as part of the first Statewide Health Conference to be held by 4-H'ers.

Miss Annie Taylor, Educational Director of the State Health Department's Division of Dental Health, demonstrated prevalence of dental cavities by discovering 199 teeth that needed filling among 59 boys and girls polled.

Delegates agreed on three primary causes for Georgia's high rate of dental caries: (1) Lack of information on dental care; (2) shortage of dentists; (3) lack of funds for country dental health programs.

Miss Taylor told the group a new fluorene-swabbing program "offered new hope for preventing dental cavities." She described the program recently developed by the U. S. Public Health Service, which promises in the future to prevent an estimated 40 percent of caries among school children.

The Conference, which opened Wednesday, will adjourn today. W. A. Sutton, State 4-H Club Leader, and Miss Kathern Weldon and R. J. Richardson, assistant leaders, have been in charge of Conference activities.

'Jesse James' Is Hunted in Waycross Area

The police net spread in South Georgia for Jesse James Roberts, accused of being an auto thief, appeared to be tightening last night with reports that a man answering the description of the 200-pound Jesse had been seen in Waycross.

Ware County officials said the man, in company with two other men, was observed riding in a red jeep. They traded a 1947 model Chevrolet for a 1946 Chrysler at a Waycross automobile dealer's place.

One of the men in the jeep was believed to have been a partner of the elusive Jesse before his alleged auto lifting escapades were cut short by Atlanta detectives. Officers here still were seeking the second man when Jesse walked out of the city jail under an assumed name on May 16.

Officers in South Georgia began a systematic search for Jesse Wednesday on the heels of a new auto theft wave in the section and reports that he had been seen in the vicinity of Sylvester and Albany. His father is a farmer living near Tifton.

280 Faked $10 Bills Result In Indictment for Trio Here

The Fulton County Grand Jury indicted James Leroy Thomas, J. C. Brown and James W. Hayman yesterday on charges of possessing and passing counterfeit $10 bills amounting to approximately $2,800.

Thomas, 28, an Atlanta filling station operator, made $10,000 bond in Atlanta last month, and the two other men—Hayman, 30, of Winder, and Brown, 22, of Atlanta—made $7,000 bonds each in Gainesville.

The three will be arraigned in Atlanta before Federal Judge T. Hoyt Davis, Federal Judge for the Middle District of Georgia, and their trial is expected to be held shortly thereafter. Asst. Dist. Atty. Joel B. Mallet will prosecute the case.

The Grand Jury returned 16 additional indictments, including those against Paul Hibdon and Calvin Thomas Bettis, who were charged with escaping from Federal Honor Farm No. 2 near Pantersville last June 29.

Eight indictments were returned for violation of the National Motor Vehicle Theft Act and four for possessing and operating unregistered distilleries and manufacturing non-tax-paid distilled spirits.

QUOTE OF DAY

"A loyal rebel of the past," was the way James Roosevelt, son of the late President and National Committeeman from California, described himself as the Democratic National Committee met yesterday in Philadelphia.

Untangle Vehicles In 4-Way Wreck

Police yesterday unscrambled three trucks and an automobile which piled together at Edgewood Avenue and Daniel Street.

Patrolmen M. Mann and C. R. Henslee said a car operated by B. T. Berry, of 28 Seventh St., N. E., attempting to make a right turn from Edgewood into Daniel, collided with a truck driven by John Burton, Negro, of 519 Highland Ave., N. E., which was entering Edgewood from Daniel.

Janis Copley, of 473 Crew St., S. W., driving a truck east on Edgewood stopped suddenly to avoid plowing into the wreck and was rammed in the rear by a truck operated by Richard C. Farmer, Negro, of 16-A Larkin Pl., S. W., patrolmen said. Edgewood Avenue was blocked for some time until the damaged machines could be moved.

Condon Gets Nod Of Atom Group

WASHINGTON, July 15—(INS)—The five-member U. S. Atomic Energy Commission unanimously granted Dr. Edward U. Condon access to its secret information tonight in the six-month-old controversy over Dr. Condon's loyalty.

The Commission held that Dr. Condon may see all classified information useful in his work as Director of the Bureau of Standards, but added this never has included information on "military weapons or production of stockpile data."

Food With a Flavor

Ban On Banana Splits? Fool Them With Salad

A banana split, oozing with ice cream and syrups, is a teen-age favorite at the corner drugstore. But it's not for adults. It's too rich and too fattening.

A Banana Split Salad, though, is a different thing entirely. That is why both grown-ups and children love it. Fresh peaches substitute for scoops of ice cream and mayonnaise takes the place of sweet sauces. Topped with red raspberries and nuts it's as pretty and delicious a dessert as anyone could want.

6 bananas
Lemon juice
6 peaches
1 pint berries
Lettuce
Mayonnaise
Chopped nuts

Peel and halve bananas lengthwise. Dip in lemon juice. Peel and halve peaches; remove pits. Dip in lemon juice. Arrange 2 banana halves lengthwise on lettuce. Put 2 peach halves together and place in center. Heap berries on either side. Top peach with mayonnaise. Sprinkle with nuts.

Yield: 6 servings.

Honey

Honey makes a soft, delicate white frosting for a cake to be served the day it is made. Beat an egg white with a dash of salt until it can hold soft peaks; then pour one-half cup of honey over the egg white in a thin stream, beating constantly as you do so. Continue to beat until the frosting holds its shape well—about four minutes.

Salad

A most attractive salad is one of avocado and grapefruit. Cut the peeled avocado in half and then into crosswise slices. Arrange alternate slices of the avocado and grapefruit segments on watercress. Serve with a savory French dressing.

Toasters

Some new toasters have automatic pop-open crumb trays which permit easy removal of crumbs.

Oil

Protect oil against fire by storing it in metal tanks placed away from the building.

Tips for Stretching Budget

Do you get the utmost out of the products on your pantry shelf? Do you try tested recipes as they appear on many of the package goods you buy? Are you aware of the versatility of many of those products? A few suggestions giving serious uses for one of those foods, mayonnaise, are given here to help you make the most from those golden investments:

Unexpected guests will never pose a problem if there's canned chicken and asparagus on the emergency shelf. Cream chicken, using canned chicken broth and milk for the sauce. To give it "company airs," blend about 1-4 cup mayonnaise into the white sauce and add a few diced ripe olives just before serving. Accompany with asparagus.

No gravy usually means no rice. But not for long once you have discovered how rice with a delicious curry sauce enhances the flavor of lamb chops or broiled chicken. Make it this way: Saute an onion in three tablespoons of mayonnaise. Add three tablespoons flour, 1-8 teaspoon pepper, 1-2 teaspoon curry powder. Dissolve a bouillon cube in 1 1-2 cup boiling water. Add to onion mixture. Cook, stirring constantly, until smooth and thickened.

Try these novel and delicious bread sticks with soups and salads. Trim crusts from bread slices and cut in one-inch fingers. Spread both sides with mayonnaise and toast in a waffle iron until brown. So good and so easy to make.

When time is an element in preparing dinner, rush this quick and hearty main dish to the table. It can be ready in one-half hour. Line a shallow casserole with baking powder biscuit dough. Combine a can of salmon with 1-4 cup mayonnaise and spread on top of dough. Bake in a hot oven 25 minutes. For a simple sauce for this just heat a can of tomato soup.

Hash To Your Taste

For a quick Summer supper, beach party or picnic, try meat hash, fried lightly and served with bean faggots, shown here. Look for canned hash with a gentle seasoning which you can season to suit yourself.

GOURMETS' FAVORITES

Try Tinned Hash for Beach Parties and Picnics

By SALLY SAVER

There's a good corned beef hash now being put on the market by a famous meat packer, And it's so good, it brings to mind many fascinating hash dishes. Don't laugh. Hash is really quite an interesting food. And a gourmet's favorite all over the world.

One very famous actor, who usually plays opposite his beautiful wife, says hash is his favorite meal. He makes it himself, in his dressing room after the last act. . . .

He melts 1 tablespoon butter in a large frying pan. Then adds enough boiling water to cover the bottom 1/4 inch. He puts in two cans of this marvelous, meaty hash. Covers the pan. And cooks it gently till both sides are golden brown. It's the hot water that does the trick.

Invite your friends over some night after the movies, and try it yourself. It will make the men in the company forget the heroine and give their applause to hash . . . and you.

Up in the Green Mountains of Vermont, they have a famous dish called "Red Flannel Hash." It's a little late in the year for red flannels, but a mighty good hash recipe is never out of season. To make this fascinating eastern dish, add chopped cooked red beets to the hash as it comes from the can. (Approximately 1/4 cup of beets to 1 can of hash.) Cover. And cook the whole delicious ensemble together. Hash belongs on picnics, too. Try thick, meaty corned beef patties cooked over an open fire, and see what it does to your appetite. It's fine fare on a beach party, too.

Along with the recommendation we have two mouthwatering hash recipes, guaranteed to win the heart of man and maid. . . .and everyone in between!

HASH WITH FRIED ONIONS
1 Can Corned Beef Hash
4 Medium-sized onions
3 Tablespoons fat (about)

Cut Corned Beef Hash into eight slices and brown slices in 1 tablespoon of the fat. Meanwhile slice onions and fry in remaining fat. Top four slices of browned corned beef hash with fried onions and cover with the remaining four slices. Garnish with a few fried onion rings. Serves four.

HASH WITH BEANS
1 Can Corned Beef Hash
1 Tablespoon fat
1 Pound green beans
6 Onion rings
Melter butter

Cut Corned Beef Hash into six slices. Brown on both sides in melted fat. Meanwhile, cook beans until tender, place in onion rings and pour melted butter over them. Serve with tartar sauce or chili sauce. Serves six.

Cauliflower

Cook books often suggest, in preparing cauliflower, that the whole head be soaked in cold salted water for a half hour or so before cooking. This direction is given because the soaking helps draw out insects.

Meatless Supper For Sunday Night

Deep green broccoli dressed with a smooth velvety cheese sauce; creamy mounds of soft scrambled eggs with hot, homemade rolls serve as the foundation for this, we think, easy to prepare supper. In the records kept by Thomas Jefferson it appears that broccoli was a common vegetable on the Washington market in his day. Even the method of cooking used cannot be improved upon.

Scrambled eggs is one of the first foods that most girls learn to cook . . . yet many never learn to cook them well. Whether you add cream and beat before placing in the pan or prefer to break them directly into the pan and stir later is a matter of choice . . . the important thing is to keep the heat low and stir without breaking up the soft curds into fine pieces. Use a lifting motion, using a wooden spoon and lifting up the cooked portion, allowing the uncooked part to go back to the bottom of the pan for cooking. Serve on a warm, not hot, plate.

The lovely contrast of yellows and greens make this supper tray an unusually attractive one. Here's how it's prepared:

STEAMED BROCCOLI WITH CHEESE SAUCE
1 bunch broccoli.
boiling water.
Salt:

The broccoli may be prepared for cooking and stored in the refrigerator. Cut off the large outer leaves and tough portions of the stalk. Cut into suitable size pieces. Place in boiling salted water and cook until just tender. Drain, serve hot with smooth cheese sauce.

CHEESE SAUCE
3 tablespoons fortified margarine.
2 tablespoons flour.
1 teaspoon salt.
1/4 teaspoon pepper.
2 cups milk.
2 cups grated cheese

Melt the margarine over low heat. Add flour, salt and pepper and stir until blended. Gradually stir in milk and cook, stirring constantly, until thick and smooth. Continue to cook at least 10 minutes. Add the grated cheese and stir over very low heat until cheese is melted. Serve hot on the steamed broccoli.

SCRAMBLED EGGS
4 eggs.
4 tablespoons cream.
2 tablespoons fortified margarine.
1 teaspoon salt.

Place the margarine in a heavy pan over a slow heat. Break the eggs into a bowl. Add the cream and salt. Beat the eggs until well mixed. Pour into the pan. Stir with a lifting motion until creamy and set. Serve on crisp toast on a warm plate.

Cake Pans

Many cooks like to grease and flour a cake pan before using. To do so cover the bottom of the pan lightly with a film of fat (it is not necessary to grease the sides), then put a few teaspoons of flour into the pan. Tip and shake so the greased surface is covered with a film of flour; then invert and shake out the surplus flour.

Sandwiches

Sweet sandwiches are excellent to send alon gin a lunchbox with the regular "main dish" sandwiches. Cream cheese and pineapple preserves on date bread make a good combination. So do cream cheese and cranberry sauce on cinnamon-raisin loaf.

Keep This In Your Active File

Luscious and satisfying is the "Tuna Stuffed Avocado." The filling made with a combination of tuna and cabbage, exotically seasoned, is highly pleasing. In fact, the entire recipe is so good you'll want to keep it in your active file. Garnish the salad as you will, but we are rather partial to carrot curls and bright red radishes.

1 tablespoon lemon juice
1 6½-oz. can grated tuna
1½ cups finely chopped cabbage
½ cup cup mayonnaise
1 tablespoon prepared mustard
¼ cup chopped sour pickle
2 teaspoons salt
1 teaspoon celery salt
2 medium sized avocados
Salad greens

Sprinkle lemon juice over tuna. Blend cabbage with mayonnaise, mustard, pickle and seasonings and add to tuna. Cut avocados in half lengthwise and remove seed and skin. Fill with tuna mixture. Serve on salad greens. Serves 4.

Potatoes

Garnish baked potatoes by cutting a cross in the top of each just before serving, using a sharp, small, pointed knife. Insert a square of butter or margarine deep down in each insert, then squeeze so some of the interior shows, and add a sprinkle of paprika and parsley.

Leftover Duck

Use leftover duck in a rice or macaroni salad with celery and sweet pickle relish; serve on lots of shredded salad greens.

Storing Vegetables

When vegetables are stored in the refrigerator they should be put into an appropriate container or wrapped in waxed paper or aluminum foil. Such care will help them to remain fresh in appearance and flavor.

Cream Puffs

Fill cream puff or eclair shells with ice cream and serve with a tutti-frutti sauce made from cherries, bananas, oranges and pineapple.

Vet Medical Staff Granted Wage Hike

WASHINGTON, July 15—(AP)—The Veterans Administration has granted 15,000 of its doctors, dentists and nurses annual wage increases of $330, effective July 11.

The increases for professional employees of the veterans' hospitals matched those granted other employees, who received the $330 pay boost granted by Congress to civil service employees.

WHY COOK? KEEP COOL! — You don't have to worry over a hot stove to prepare this taste thrill—Deviled Egg Croquettes. All you do is devil hard cooked eggs, then spread whole eggs with mustard and roll in crushed potato chips. Serve with pickles and crackers. It's a dandy dish in the good old summertime. Keeps everybody cool and happy. And look at the cost: about 40 cents for four persons. And quick . . . 10 minutes after the eggs are cooked, they are ready to serve. Buy Lay's Potato Chips today and try this dish tonight. Lay's Potato Chips are golden brown, fresh and flavored just right every time. Look for Oscar, the Happy Potato, on the red and blue bag.

A STUMP TALK

Acting Gov. Thompson wasn't supposed to make a stump talk at Albany, but he did it anyway.

It was all in fun, however, for his hosts, members of the Kiwanis Club, had rigged up a big oak stump as the Governor's speaking platform. His talk was nonpolitical.

EMORY VOCALISTS

Chorus Offers Bible Number

The Emory Summer Chorus, accompanied by a group of the City's outstanding soloists, last night sang Mendelssohn's "Elijah" as the third program in the Emory Summer Concert Series.

A large audience almost filled Glenn Memorial Auditorium to hear the chorus, under the direction of Dr. Malcolm Dewey, sing the great religious work.

Soloists were Katherine McKeeman, Frances Hughes, Beverly Wolff, Virginia Holley, Stanley Perry, Alfred Robinson and Douglas Moore. Perry and Robinson sang tenor roles and Moore portrayed the part of "Elijah." Mrs. Bayne Smith, organist, accompanied the Chorus and soloists.

The Chorus, a unique unit composed of University students and faculty members, members of the Glenn Memorial Methodist Church and residents of the community, displayed itself to good advantage.

The Police Blotter

By ROLFE EDMONDSON AND KEELER McCARTNEY

LOST BRICKS — It wasn't the third little pig from the childhood fairy tale, the contractor told police. But someone certainly was taking his brick. So he stationed himself at a house he had under construction at West Hunter and Morris Brown Streets to watch. He reported seeing two Negro men drive up in an old model auto, load up with bricks and drive rapidly away.

FIRE — An early morning fire damaged the roof of Simpson Motors at 324 Spring St., N. W., Sgt. J. D. Etheridge and Pvt. R. E. Nickerson reported. They added the interior of the building was water damaged as firemen sought to extinguish flames which were believed to have resulted from a short in electric wiring.

CLEARS IT UP—J. C. Moore, of 1123 Princess Ave., S. W., said yesterday he is not the J. C. Moore reported arrested last week on charges of drunkenness.

HOTEL FIRE—Charles Driscoll, 44, of Dallas, was arrested on a charge of drunk and disorderly conduct-malicious mischief after a fire was discovered in the room he occupied in the Luckie Hotel at 180 Luckie St., N. W., Patrolmen G. S. Robertson and A. L. Posey reported. Patrolmen said damages to the room amounted to about $10. The fire apparently started from a cigarette, they said.

GUNSHOT WOUND FATAL — Ike Sewell, operator of Sewell's Service Station, died yesterday at his residence, 11 King Cir., N. E., from a gunshot wound. The wound was apparently self-inflicted, according to Fulton County Policemen H. R. Cawthorn and W. D. Allison, who investigated. The body was taken to A. S. Turner & Sons.

HURT IN FALL — Fred Wimbish, Negro, 19, of 870 Mayson Turner Ave., N. W., an elevator operator in a Peachtree Street department store, was treated at Grady Hospital yesterday for cuts and bruises sustained in a fall down the elevator shaft from the main floor to the basement. Patrolmen C. F. Sanders and L. O. Davis quoted Wimbish as saying he unlocked the elevator doors yesterday morning as usual and stepped inside. The elevator was not there.

Hospitals, Restaurants, Housewives, Public Health Authorities Praise COOK-KILL

SHE WAS FRANTIC. Mrs. Nellie E. Sager, Denver, Colo., writes, "I had to fight cockroaches until I was frantic . . . now that I have COOK-KILL I have no further trouble."

NOW RARELY SEES ONE. Bess Mize, Rio Hondo, Texas, says, "I have fought roaches with every known available roach killer with unsatisfactory results. Before using COOK-KILL roaches were too numerous to count, but now we rarely see one."

Mr. Howard A. Stedman—Famous Insecticide Chemist Says:

Howard A. Stedman

"I tested COOK-KILL and found that it paralyzed 84% of roaches in 10 MINUTES . . . killed 100% IN 24 HOURS. Using same method, 2% Chlordane killed only 78% in 24 HOURS. 10% DDT killed only 40% in 24 HOURS and never killed 100%."

(Test available upon request.)

That's why COOK-KILL is sold under a money-back guarantee.

Meat Prices Up Sharply, Heavy Rains Blamed

By HOWELL JONES

Meat prices advanced sharply here yesterday.

With prices showing advances as much as 10 cents a pound for some cuts, meat sales in most of the city's larger stores showed declines ranging from five percent to 25 percent in volume, officials of three large chain stores reported.

The largest increases were for beef steaks and pork products. Steak prices advanced an average of 10 cents a pound in most of the stores, and pork prices advanced an average of eight cents per pound. Some pork prices, however, advanced as much as 10 cents a pound.

Meanwhile, skyrocketing prices in some stores were set for another advance Monday. Beef steaks, pork chops, loin roasts, pork steaks, and whole hams are listed as meats in which the advance will be felt.

Throughout the city, however, chicken and fish prices remained unchanged except for a slight decrease in some stores in the price of fryers.

Officials of the chain groups reporting the price hikes said the current trend toward higher meat prices, caused by heavy rains over the entire nation, probably will last until Fall, at least.

One meat official said he could not see any relief from the present high prices "for a long time."

Giving a hint to housewives, the officials said that chicken and fish will be their best buys for the next few months.

They also pointed out that, by a strange coincidence, less edible parts of whole hams cost more, by comparison, than the choice center cuts, under the new price scale.

In two of the leading store chains prices on whole hams have been increased an average of three cents a pound. The third large chain will advance whole ham prices by the same margin Monday.

At the same time it was reported by all three chains that prices on the choice center-cut ham steaks will remain unchanged at 99 cents per pound.

The current siege of higher prices developed when cattlemen began holding their animals off the market to take advantage of the weight gain the cattle will get from pastures brought to new life by the recent general rains throughout the country.

Indiana Farmer Slays Betrothed Daughter

GLENS VALLEY, Ind., July 15. (UP)—A farmer, angered by his 23-year-old daughter's plans to wed, shot her to death today while the girl's mother and two sisters watched in horror.

State Police searched the State for George Leonard, 47, a plump, ruddy-faced Hoosier farmer and father of nine children.

Police said Leonard fired twice with a shotgun at Frances Leonard while she sat in the parlor of her aunt's home near here. Then he jumped into the family auto and fled.

WIN ANY CHILD'S FAVOR with this easy, "happy-healthy" recipe . . .

Pour glasses of milk into shaker. Add 2 heaping teaspoons COCOMALT per glass. Shake vigorously. Pour into glasses, add finely crushed ice and top with a cherry.

You needn't bother to tell 'em it's good for them . . . but I know you'll appreciate the fact that COCOMALT contains so much calcium that used this way it "boosts" 3 glasses to the equal of a whole quart of milk in calcium value! That's why COCOMALT is such an ideal child's drink . . . for it persuades "milk-hating" children to drink plenty of it because it tastes so rich and chocolaty when fixed with COCOMALT! Ask your Grocer!

LOVE A MISER? You'll probably say "no" . . . yet the FRIGIDAIRE Refrigerator's exclusive Meter-Miser is just that! The simplest cold-making mechanism ever built, it operates on a trickle of current. Naturally, this means a big saving . . . but "saving" is synonymous with FRIGIDAIRE Refrigerators! Reason is, besides the economical Meter-Miser, each of the 9 brand-new FRIGIDAIRE Refrigerators gives you more storage space in the same kitchen space . . . thus eliminating wasted room either inside or out! So see your local FRIGIDAIRE Dealer today . . . and choose the one best suited to your needs . . . made only by FRIGIDAIRE, a Division of General Motors.

IT'S FREE . . . the new TEN-B-LOW recipe folder, and what a wonderful help it is! That's because it shows you how to make delicious home-made ice creams with jiffy-quick speed! They're "push-over" easy, too . . . for they're made with TEN-B-LOW, the new concentrated "ice cream in a can," that's ready-mixed and contains super-rich cream, milk, eggs and sugar! Water's the only ingredient taken out . . . so it's all you add besides your favorite fresh fruit or flavoring! In the new TEN-B-LOW recipe folder you'll learn how to make the most taste-tempting ice cream treats you ever put a spoon to! For instance, this Coffee Ice Cream:

1. Instead of water, use 1½ cups strong, unsweetened coffee, and add 1¼ to 2 Tsp. vanilla. Mix thoroughly. 2. Freeze in coldest tray of refrigerator. 3. Whip and freeze to desired consistency.

Once you've used TEN-B-LOW, you'll never go back to old-fashioned, time-wasting, freezer methods of making ice cream . . . so send for your FREE copy of the new TEN-B-LOW recipe folder NOW! Write Nancy Sasser, Dept. 715-A, 271 Madison Ave., New York 16, N. Y.!

COLD LUNCHES AND SUPPERS are a welcome treat now that the days are hot . . . so here's a list of sandwich fillings that are "mouth-watering" tempters 'round the clock!

(1.) 1 diced hard-cooked egg, 2 tbsp. diced celery (or pickle relish) and salad dressing.
(2.) Cottage cheese (or creamed cheese), minced onion and chopped green pepper.
(3.) Chopped celery (or grated carrots), chopped nuts and salad dressing.
(4.) Chopped cooked meats, pickle relish (or minced onion), chopped cooked egg and salad dressing.
(5.) Sliced cucumber, sliced radish and salad dressing.
(6.) Chopped cooked liver, pickle relish (or minced onion) and salad dressing.

Remember, of course, to spread the bread thick with ALLSWEET Margarine . . . for it's the delicate, natural flavor of ALLSWEET that will make every sandwich extra good! And here's another thing to remember . . . ALLSWEET is easy to spread, even when taken straight from the refrigerator. But sandwich-improvement is only one use you'll have for ALLSWEET . . . for it makes a delicious spread for all kinds of breads, and adds flavor to hot vegetables, steaks, chops, and is ideal for baking! In addition to its tasty goodness, it supplies your family with rich food energy . . . and provides at least 15,000 units of Vitamin A per pound!

Mayor Welsch Lists Progress At Marietta

Constitution State News Service

MARIETTA, July 15—Mayor Sam J. Welsch and Councilmen William Hardy, Herman Brinkley, Luther Hames, Jr., Jack Dobbins and Claude Hicks made a six-month progress report to the citizens of Marietta over WFOM, local radio station.

In this radio roundtable discussion, the new administration which took office on Jan. 5, 1948, told citizens of what they were doing in Marietta for the progress of the city. Work has begun for the completion of the unfinished hospitals, both white and Negro.

The council voted and approved spending $400,000 to complete the hospital on Campbell Hill.

From $75,000 in recreation bonds swimming pools have been started and it is planned to build a playground for small children between Atlanta Street and the four-lane highway. To provide a better school system $200,000 has been turned over to the City Board of Education for additional improvements.

A new $95,000 grammar school is planned on Maple Avenue, a city manager has been provided, and additions to waterworks and street sewers have been made, the mayor said.

Candidates Get 5 Minutes Each At Lakewood Fest

Gubernatorial and Fulton County office seekers will be given five minutes each Monday to "get it off their respective chests."

The Southeastern Fair Association has invited political candidates and the public to join in a basket picnic from 5 p. m. to 7 p. m. Monday in the grove at Lakewood Park.

Individual candidates will begin speaking at 7 p. m. after spectators retire to the grandstands. A gong will ring at the end of four minutes of each address. A clock with a large second hand will tick off the remaining minute. The microphone in each instance will go dead at the end of the fifth minute. The affair is free to the public and to speakers.

Lions Club Meets

ARLINGTON, July 15—The Arlington Lions Club met in regular meeting at the Home Economics Building with Lion B. A. Garrett, vice president, presiding in the absence of the president, W. E. Gleaton, who was on his vacation.

A JOB WITH "ORCHIDS" for ALERT, ATTRACTIVE GIRLS

LETTERS from telephone users complimenting and commending our operators are frequent. That's not only because of the importance and value placed on the service received, but also because of the high type of young lady placed in this important position. It's a tribute too, to the voice and personality development that makes the VOICE With a Smile a tradition.

IF YOU would like meeting people at this "crossroads of the community," if you like working with many other girls of your age and interests, maybe this is the job for you.

GOOD PAY—$29 a week—beginning the day you join a class of newcomers to learn this interesting work from friendly instructors—three raises the first year! Opportunities for advancement. Sickness Benefits and Vacations with pay.
